WINTER PRESENTS THE MEMORIAL

Eulogy on Life of the Late Barrister Is Followed by Resolutions for Its Acceptance

MANY RECALL HIS EARLY LIFE

Old Friends in Profession Speak of His Many Accomplishments Before the Supreme Court

With practically every member of the La Crosse County Bar association in attendance, as well as a number of lawyers from other circuits within the state, the Bar association this afternoon paid a last tribute to the late Gilbert Motier Woodward, soldier, lawyer, student and journalist.
Over a hundred members of the profession were in the circuit court room when the meeting was called to order by Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee. Immediately after the reading of the memorial, resolutions were passed. It was read by Frank Winter, chairman of the committee.
Following the reading of the memorial, resolutions to have it placed upon the minutes of the court, forwarded to the press and to friends of Col. Woodward, were adopted. It was so ordered by Judge E. C. Higbee.

Older members of the La Crosse county bar talked reminiscently of the days when Col. Woodward was in his prime. Stories of his brilliant work before the Wisconsin supreme court were related.

Judge Higbee closed the exercise, ordering of the minutes to be spread on the record of the court.
The memorial follows:

It has been said that a lawyer writes his name in the sands; that he does his work leaving little or nothing tangible of it behind him; that he is soon forgotten and little mentioned in the community after death, for the reason that his best work is unseen and often unknown except by those immediately interested.

Because this, in a measure, is true, it is eminently proper that some memorial, in permanent form, of the lawyer who has given a life time of highly intelligent and honest service to his profession, should be made at his death.
GILBERT MOTIER WOODWARD was alike fortunate in his parentage and the time of his birth. His father was William Woodward, of Washington, D. C., descended of a family residing, for possibly generations, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a family of more than ordinary ability, as shown by the number of prominent men it produced. His mother was Esther Rittenhouse.
He was the famous Rittenhouse family of Pennsylvania, distinguished in Colonial history and in the days immediately following the Revolution.

Born in Washington.
Mr. Woodward was born at Washington, D. C., December 25, 1835.
The time of his birth brought him to early manhood in a turbulent and formative period of American history, when population was increasing with giant strides, when industrial life was rapidly changing and lacking upon itself new forms, when opinions and ideas were changing even more rapidly than the aspect of physical things. It was the time of the break up of old political parties and the formation of new; a time when the two rival systems of freedom and slavery that had struggled for supremacy in the nation since the first slave ship landed its cargo of black men in Virginia, were about to carry the contest from the forum of the halls of Congress to the battle field.

To be thrown in the formative period of his life, into the very center of the struggle at the capitol of the country, could not have failed to stimulate the mind, mold the character, and largely control the actions, of such a man as Gilbert Woodward.

Of his early education we know little. There being then no common high schools at Washington, he was educated in a private school and academy in his native city. He had no opportunity for a collegiate education, for at fifteen he was a printer's apprentice, at Baltimore, Maryland, and later a printer and proof reader in Maryland and Washington.

He told the writer that, when connected with the National Intelligencer, at Washington, in 1859 and '60, his most intimate friend was Hugh McNeil, a man somewhat older than he, Woodward, of high character, taste and education, who later became distinguished as a soldier, and a colonel of the Pennsylvania Buck alls, was killed at Antietam; that

TWELVE KILLED BY PLANT EXPLOSION

Automobile Tire Factory Is Wrecked at Detroit
This Morning

THIRTY PINNED IN THE WRECKAGE

Ten Are Missing and Rescue Is Hampered by the Flames in the Debris

DETROIT, May 15.—An explosion believed to have been caused by the ignition of compounds used in the manufacture of automobile tires, claimed the lives of twelve men in the plant of the Mexican Rubber Company, in Dekray, a Detroit suburb, just before noon today. The big one story concrete building of the company was reduced to ruins and at noon police and firemen were frantically searching the debris for the bodies of other employees believed to have perished. Besides the dead ten men are known to be missing and some reports said that thirty were imprisoned in the wreckage.

Ten men were killed outright by the explosion and their bodies recovered. Three others frightfully mangled were removed and rushed to Solvay hospital, where two of them died within an hour. The third is said to be near death.

Fire is devouring the wreckage.
So terrific was the explosion that scores of buildings in the neighborhood of the plant were rocked and windows for several miles around broken.

Fire Dies Down

Fire which followed the explosion and for two hours prevented any extensive search of the wreckage, had died down this afternoon and a hundred men working under the personal direction of Police Commissioner Gillespie were prying their way to the center of the wrecked plant. An unconfirmed report that a young woman stenographer had been buried in the wreckage of the company's office spurred them on.

The known dead are: William Mc-Coy, 48; C. Larson, a chemist; Jose
Casso, Albert Hodgson, Gordon Lata, Emon Amon, Victor Burns, Edward Christopher, William Niles, one unidentified man; dying in Solvay hospital: George Gagliardi.

WAGE DIFFERENCE BEFORE COURT

A difference of $711.25 existing between the accounts of former Supervisor W. D. Stratman and Henry Rasch, a former hired helper on the Stratman farm, is being fought out before Attorney John F. Doherty, acting as referee at the order of the court.

Rasch started suit claiming $461.25 for wages. Stratman claims that he not only is free from debt to Rasch but that the latter owes him $250 for board and medical bills.
Both have an abundance of evidence in the way of old calendars and memorandums.
Rasch testified that he hired out for his board and $1 per day to be paid during all seasons of the year.
Stratman on the other hand claims he was to pay Rasch $1 per day during the summer and that Rasch was to receive no pay and should pay for his board during the winter.

Yesterday afternoon and this morning were occupied in submitting evidence and the case will be continued Monday.

ADMITS THEFT

Harry MacMillan, charged with relieving Lee H. Bryant, an Iowa farmer, of his roll, pleaded guilty when arraigned in county court this morning. The money amounting to about $15, was removed from Bryant's pocket while he was sleeping in a saloon. Judge Brindley sentenced MacMillan to thirty days in the county jail.

Sight of Victorious Rebel

Indian Dictator to Break Down

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
VERA CRUZ, May 15.—Gen. Emilio Zapata, the rebel bandit, is within ten miles of Mexico City with 5-000 men. News has reached here that the capital was astounded last night to learn that Zapata was at the town of Toluca with his rebel forces and that the loyal troops in the city had been sent forth to meet him.

French Send Ransom
A courier from the French legation is prepared to meet Zapata with a large sum of money, which will be given the rebel leader in return for assurances that places over which the French flag flies will not be molested.

Torreon Movies Affect Huerta

Only a few nights ago, it was learned here, General Huerta witnessed scenes from the battle of Torreon in his home at a private exhibition of moving pictures of the engagement. As he saw the victorious rebel troops in action and General Villa appearing as the hero of the war drama in which the dictator is playing such a prominent part,
it overcame even the spartan-like old Indian. Huerta wept and left the room before the picture was finished.

The Mexican gunboats Zaragoza and Bravo, which defended Tampico, are crossing the gulf today toward Puerto Mexico. From there officers will wire Huerta the news of the great losses at Tampico. The gunboats are being trailed by two American torpedo boats.

Will Catch Zaragoza

It is generally believed that the remnants of the army of Gen. Zaragoza, which evacuated Tampico, can be saved from annihilation only through a miracle. The retreating federalists have been practically surrounded between Tampico and San Luis Potosi.

HANG TWO MURDERERS

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., May

from the same scaffold here today, for the murder of Policeman Archibald of Vancouver.

VALLON TESTIMONY IS NOT DAMAGED

Manton Unable to Shake Straight Story Told by Third of the Informers

NEW YORK, May 15.—Absolutely unshaken in the main facts of his story how Police Lieutenant Becker plotted the murder of Herman Rosenthal, Harry Vallon, third of the informers against Becker ended his ordeal as a witness today in Becker's second trial.

Hour after hour during the morning session, Vallon, dark, sinister and collected, stuck to his story despite a terrific arraignment by Martin T. Manton, Becker's chief counsel. When Manton forced Vallon to admit he was a gambler, an opium dealer and generally a man of bad morals, or none, Becker, watchful in his corner, smiled and glanced at his wife across the court. But when Manton's repeated questioning brought affirmations of the salient features of his story, Becker's face grew grim again.

Vallon asserted flatly time and again that Becker was present at and dominated the Harlem murder conference, "the heart of the conspiracy," where Rosenthal's doom was sealed.

NO EVIDENCE—SET FREE

Charles Marker and A. J. Burkhard, claiming Viroqua as their home, were arraigned in county court this morning charged with stealing $8 and a watch from Nels Simonson, a Viroqua farmer, but were discharged owing to lack of evidence. Simonson, who had caused their arrest, insisted upon shaking hands with both men before they left the court room.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY HAS BIG INVENTION

Walter Oeschger Invents Improved Gasoline Gauge and Company Starts Manufacture

WILL BE STANDARD EQUIPMENT

Experiments Conducted by Eighteen Year Old Boy
While in Physics
Class Here

For the purpose of manufacturing a gasoline gauge for autos, invented by Walter Oeschger, an 18 year old high school student of La Crosse, a $20,000 company has been formed in Detroit, Mich., has purchased a plant and is now actively engaged in filling orders.

Inasmuch as it registers accurately regardless of temperature, the device is said to be an improvement on any similar system upon the market.
The young inventor says that it has met the approval of five of the most noted automobile engineers in the country, after exhaustive tests. Consequently, many of the leading cars have adopted the gauge as standard equipment. It is called the "Ret-law gauge."

The apparatus consists of a float which is placed in the fuel tank, communicating with a brass tube leading to a dial on the dash. As the float rises or falls with the gasoline in the tank a liquid which is contained in the tube is forced back, causing the indicator on the dial to register the amount of gasoline in the tank.

The improvement of the Oeschger system upon former methods, so the inventor claims, lies in the fluid in the brass tube. It is a reddish brown compound, which has exactly the same rate of expansion as the brass tube in which it is enclosed, thus eliminating inaccuracies due to inequality of expansion. It vaporizes at a temperature of 600 degrees. The composition of the fluid is the inventor's secret.

Thanks Principal

For a year, while studying physics at the high school, young Oeschger worked upon his device before perfecting it. Today when seen by a Tribune reporter, he declared that to B. E. McCormick, principal of the school, more than anyone else, he owed thanks for encouragement in his experiments. Most of the experiments were made at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C.
Oeschger, 509 Cass street, where he has a laboratory fitted up.

The company organized in Detroit will concentrate upon the Oeschger gauges. Several different types have been developed, including a system for registering the amount of water in ballast tanks of ships. This system will be installed on a number of big lake freighters now in course of construction. Also a modification of the gauge has been applied to auto trucks, to indicate when they have reached their loading capacity.
Oeschger said today that the company has enough orders ahead to keep them busy for a year and a half.

WENDLING CLAIMS CASE WAS DECIDED BEFORE THE TRIAL

Sensation Allegations in Petition for Writ of Certiorari from Circuit Court

WRIT ISSUED BY JUDGE HIGBEE

Copies of Document Are Served on Members of Police and Fire Commission Today

DEPOSED SERGEANT TO FIGHT

Claimed He Will Go to the Highest Courts; "Fired" for Using Police Auto
for Private Purposes

That the decision of the police and fire board in the case of John Wendling, police sergeant discharged for using the police department automobile for unofficial business, was unreasonable; that the commission failed to exercise its judgment and consider the evidence and that its conclusions in the matter were predetermined on evidence given by President John E. Langdon and communicated to the board by him, are some of the allegations in the writ brought by the deposed official to reverse the commission's findings.

Copies of a writ of certiorari, issued by Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee at the request of Bunge & Bosshard, Wendling's attorneys, were served upon the commission today.

Returnable May 23

The writ is returnable May 23 and the test case will start at 9 o'clock the morning of that day.

The petition for the writ set forth that the discharge of Wendling was illegal because complaint was not made to the commission by Police Chief Webber or any qualified elector, not a member of the commission. It is also contended—that there was no written complaint served upon Wendling and that the document he received was merely a recital of the alleged case against him and was signed by President John E.
Langdon and Secretary L. C. Colman of the commission.

The petition for the writ also alleges that no accurate record of the proceedings at the hearing was kept,
as is provided by law.

Wendling at Work

Wendling is now in the employ of the Milwaukee railroad as detective in charge of this district. It is understood, however, that he is "going through" with the case to determine for the benefit of the city and police department just what the authority of the commission in such matters.

Wendling's "offense" consisted of taking five respectable people home in the police auto after a dance. Enroute they stopped at the Michel brewery and partook of one or two glasses of beer.

LAW TO SUCCEED JAMES THOMPSON

Judge E. C. Higbee Announces that District Attorney Will Be Appointed Divorce Counsel

Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee announced today that District Attorney D. S. Law will be named to succeed James Thompson as divorce counsel here.

Mr. Thompson resigned the position recently, explaining that he preferred to be free to take divorce cases.

The work of the divorce counsel consists of an investigation of all divorce actions started within the county, to determine whether or not the conditions prompting the action are as alleged and to recommend to acquaint the court with the result of the investigations.

The salary attached to the office is $10 for each divorce filed.

NORWAY CELEBRATE FREEDOM

CHRISTIANIA, May 15.—Amid great popular enthusiasm, accompanied by the firing of salutes, the display of the national colors on every building in the city, and a joint military and naval demonstration, King Haakon in person today formally opened the Norwegian Centennial exhibition commemorating the hundredth anniversary of Norway's liberation from the control of Denmark and the establishment of her present liberal constitution. Three thousand specially invited guests, including the members of the diplomatic corps, attended the inaugural ceremony, which was held at 11 o'- clock. There will be a huge state banquet this evening at which 1,400 covers will be laid.

IRONTON, Ohio, May 15.—Mrs.
Matilda Massie, 75, her son Robert, 45, and daughter Mary, 42, were found murdered at their home at Greasy Ridge, 25 miles north of here today. Neighbors discovered the triple slaying. The dead are mother, brother and sister of W. E. Massie, prominent democratic politician and state taxing official. A farm hand is said to be missing.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Harley Beard
19, a farm hand, arrested by the Chicago police today, is alleged by them to have confessed to killing two women and a man on a farm near Ironton, Ohio, Wednesday night. The victims were Mrs. Matilda Massie, 75, her son Robert, 45, and her daughter Mary, 42.

Beard, the police say, claims he killed Massie with a club during an altercation because he feared Massie was about to strike him with an axe. Massie's sister and mother were beaten to death because he thought they might interfere with his escape.

In the confession given out by the police Beard says, after describing how the three were struck down:

"I thought I saw the old lady move a little, so I went and got Bob's razor and cut her head off. I didn't cut Mary's head off. But I didn't cut Bob's head off—I didn't look at him after I hit him the first time. I came to my sister's house in Chicago to get away, but you arrested me."

The police say they found a gold watch and $20 in Beard's pockets.
He is alleged to have admitted that the watch belonged to Miss Massie, while the money was taken from her brother. The police say the boy is a degenerate.

formerly of La Crosse, and a sister of Gysbert Van Steenwyk of this country homes near Chicago. The property overlooks the Skokie valley and contains about one and a half acres, handsomely landscaped.

The house is a twelve room stucco structure, erected five or six years ago. While the price paid by Mrs.
Cassels is not made public, it is known that the property was on the market for $35,000.

light house which United States navy forces took over early in the week, Bryan announced this afternoon.

BY JOHN E. NEVIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—New and peremptory demands that information be given as to the fate of Vice Consul Sillman and Orderly Parks, both missing, went forward from this government to Dictator Huerta today. Daily requests in the past have developed nothing. When they were reiterated today, the demand was couched in emphatic language.

Secretary Bryan told the cabinet that the two day postponement of the Niagara Falls mediation conference was at the request of the Huerta envoys. They sent word direct to the mediators that there were a number of matters they first desired to thresh out among themselves.

Reports that the constitutionalists might be represented at Niagara Falls were revived after the cabinet meeting. This was said to be one of the reasons for the postponement of the conference.

Alarm now pervades administration circles over fate of John R. Sill-man, American vice consul at Salti-lo. Despite promises made by Huerta to this government, through the Brazilian embassy, no news of the

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Little Pigs Enjoyed the Clouds.

STRANGELY enough, daddy had never told the children a story about an airship, and certainly, he said to himself, another story must not be told about anything before he told an aeroplane story.
Jack loved to get hold of all the pictures he could see just how the aeroplanes did look and how they really did fly. So when daddy told them he had an aeroplane story for them both Jack and Evelyn were delighted.

"I am going to tell you this evening," said daddy, "a story about three little pigs and their ride in an airship."
"There was a young man who owned an airship. But besides this he also had a small farm, and three little young pigs had just been added to it."
"The young man thought the little pigs were so cunning that he hardly wanted to leave them, even for his airship, of which, of course, he was very fond. So the only thing left for him to do, he decided, was to take the little pigs for a trip in the airship."
"When he asked the little pigs if they would like to fly with him they did look very much surprised, but as they didn't know what to say they gave their usual answer of a squeal, but it sounded like a strong and enthusiastic squeal. So he picked them up and put them into the waiting airship."
"So off into the air, up near the clouds, they went. The little pigs were not at all frightened, and they seemed to like the clouds. The young man decided that they must like extreme things, for they liked to get under the earth, and they seemed to very much enjoy getting way up in the air."
"Of course they squealed, but they squealed for joy, and they were just as good as could be."
"When they got to the earth again after a good, long trip they really seemed to be very much disappointed that such a fine trip had come to an end."
"Then when they got to the barnyard once more you should have heard the noise. Of course the pigs had to tell all the other animals about their trip, and the more they talked the louder were their voices."
"Of course they wanted to brag to the other animals of how much more of the world they had seen than any of them, for, though, you might not believe it to be so, pigs are really very conceited."
"Well," said Jack, "I would be pretty proud myself if I had ever been up in an airship."
"So would I," of course agreed Evelyn.
"Well," laughed daddy, "then the pigs win, for they did see the clouds, and we agree that it wasn't conceited of them to be proud of their trip."

FIVE DIE IN FIRE

ASTORIA, Ore., May 15.—Five men are dead as the result of a fire today which destroyed the warehouse of the Columbia River Packers' association here. It is feared there may be more fatalities. Three men, who were in the warehouse at the time of the fire, were burned to death and two others jumped into the river and were drowned.

"Those fishermen have a hard life," said the man who was looking at the picture.
"Oh, I don't know. Think of being able to go fishing without quitting work."—Washington Star.

EASY WAY TO STOP HAIR FROM COMING OUT

A harmless home remedy, compounded principally from the powerful juice of the Pernambuco shrub of Peru, has been found highly effective in promptly checking the falling of hair from the scalp. Men and women whose hair is growing alarming thin and falling out badly every day should try it without fail, as the ingredients are perfectly harmless and very inexpensive and the whole thing can be prepared at home or by any druggist. Merely mix together in an 8 oz. bottle 2 oz. Lavona de Composee, 6 oz. Bay Rum and ½ drachm of Menthol Crystals. Shake well and allow to stand for an hour, when it is ready for use. The Lavona in the above is the pharmaceutical name of the Pernambuco juice as diluted and scientifically prepared for medical purposes. To stop the hair from coming out and to quickly start a fine growth of new hair all over the scalp, rub this lotion briskly into the scalp with the fingers tips or a medium stiff brush for about five minutes each night and morning. After three or four days' use in this way you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease and in about ten days you will find your scalp covered with a thick growth of fine downy new hairs, which will grow with amazing rapidity.

HUERTA WANTS TO AVOID TROUBLE

Changes Commanders at Vera Cruz to Keep Out of Incidents Like Parks Case

VERA CRUZ, May 15.—Although General Funston was prepared to meet any move that might be made by Gen. Garcia Pena, who has been placed in command of the Mexican troops near Vera Cruz, relieving Gen. Maas, authorities here generally believed today that the change indicated a desire on the part of Huerta to preserve peace at this point until was actually declared.

The threatened attack on the water works at Tejar some time ago and the killing of Private Samuel Parks of the Twenty-eighth infantry are believed to be directly responsible for the removal of Maas.
It is believed here that the relieving of Maas is merely a part of his plan to keep his record clear in Vera Cruz by disclaiming responsibility for the water works incident and the killing of Parks.
In the meantime, however, the Mexicans are preparing for any move that may be ordered should the mediation conference fail.

CAN'T SEEK ORDERS IN DRY TERRITORY

MADISON, Wis., May 15.—It is unlawful for an agent to solicit liquor orders within dry territory, according to the opinion of Attorney General Walter Owen to District Attorney David Bogue, Columbia county. Mr. Bogue asked whether a person at Milwaukee or in Minnesota could ship liquor into dry territory in Columbia county and whether the breweries at either place could establish a distributing point or warehouse in dry territory.

"The question whether a shipment from Milwaukee into Columbia county is lawful or unlawful depends upon the facts of whether the individual made the order direct to the brewery in Milwaukee and whether the liquor was thereupon shipped direct to such purchaser. If secured by solicitation it is illegal."

The young man arose and looked for his hat. Then he glanced at the clock. It was 11:15.
"I'll see you later," he said to the fair, young girl.
"No, you won't," a big voice boomed down the stairway. "You'll go home and go to bed and stay there."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TELLS U. C. T. THAT T. R. IS SALESMAN

CHICAGO, May 15.—Theodore Roosevelt, world's champion traveling salesman and one of our best little advertisers.

Woodrow Wilson, champion all-around "silent salesman."
This classification was made today by Homer McKee of Indianapolis, speaking before the eighteenth annual convention of the Illinois grand council conclave, Order of United Commercial Travelers of America, at the Hotel La Salle.
"America is a nation of salesmen," said McKee. "Getting the order is our king of sports. Our politics is purely a matter of salesmanship."
"Roosevelt will not allow any man to forget him. He will endure any sacrifice or hardship to keep his name fresh in everyone's mind."
"To Wilson's credit must be recorded two big deals—tariff revision and currency reform. Now he has a larger one on his hands, the Mexican situation."

CHARGE BURKE WITH BRIBERY

NEW YORK, May 15.—John Burke of Indianapolis, former superintendent of the Panama canal commissary department, and five New York merchants this afternoon were indicted here, charged with bribery. Burke was formally charged with taking $10,000 in bribes. Isaac Brandon, a sugar dealer, Robert Wilcox, oil man, and Jacob Salas, a tobacco merchant, were indicted, charged with bribing Burke to buy their products.

RUMOR OF HUERTA'S FLIGHT SCOUTED

Delayed in Transmission Dispatch Believed Based on Last Week's Rumor

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—A private dispatch received here from Maananiilo brought a rumor that President Huerta was headed for the west coast, but it is believed that the dispatch was delayed in transmission and was based upon reports in circulation last week. It is known that Admiral Howard's fleet has been looking for such a move by Huerta, but it is not considered likely that he will leave the capital unless Villa approaches, ready to attack.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—It is known that General Huerta was in Mexico City last night and that he had no immediate intention of leaving there. The private message received in San Francisco today telling of a rumor that he had fled, is believed by officials to have resulted from reports started last week by constitutionalists. The best information here is that when Huerta leaves the capital, if he does leave, he will transfer his headquarters to Puebla, east of Mexico City.

PRESS CONFERENCE CLOSES

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 15.—The National Newspaper Conference and School for Editors closed today and the editors and lecturers started for the state editorial association meeting at Manhattan. Isaac D. White of the New York World told the editors that the honest newspapermen were being seriously harmed by the errors in their business.

"The honest reporter and newspaper is always trying to be accurate and urges the readers to point out errors," said White. "The trouble has been that over-zealous men have used a night stick in their efforts to accomplish a definite program and often innocent people are hurt. This has resulted in the newspapers being out of tune often with public opinion."

WILSON NOMINATES

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The president this afternoon nominated to be United States attorney, district of Minnesota, Alfred Jacques of Duluth; to be United States marshal, northern district of Alabama, Henry A. Skeggs of Decatur, Ala., and the following postmasters: At Rushville, Ill., Howard F. Dyson; at Arcola, Ill., John McCann.

TWO MORE BODIES OF SAILORS HOME

NEW YORK, May 15.—Two more of the Vera Cruz dead reached American soil this afternoon. The hospital ship Solace, with the bodies of Ray Harry Pulliam and Clarence Herschberger, bluejackets, arrived here. Thirty-one sick and wounded were brought from Vera Cruz. The bodies will be sent to the families of the dead men, and the wounded to the Brooklyn navy yard hospital.

BUT, HE DIDN'T WORK FOR THE RAILROADS

Senator Morris cynically remarked in speaking of the republican convention, "same old crowd."

We would like to know where the senator classes himself? Isn't he a little ancient? He has been on the ticket ever since the La Follette party was born and is still a candidate.

He also held the office of district attorney for four years just prior to the La Follette party coming into power giving him sixteen years on the political payroll. They don't often get older than that, and he will probably find he has got his growth when the votes are counted this fall.

—From W. E. Barber's political letter.

Thirteen (not sixteen) years in politics—and for what?

Aside from his service as county attorney, Lieut. Gov. Morris has been out of pocket for every year of his political service. Six years as senator at $250 a year, and three as lieutenant governor at $1,000 a year—a total of $4,500 for nine years' work his own actual expense in performing which has been not less than $6,000, without figuring the loss of business. No stalwart conversant with existing conditions will claim that the most frugal of legislators can make ends meet on the salaries that are paid.

And out of these services performed at a personal financial loss, what has been returned?

Tom Morris has been a powerful influence in the procurement of the 2-cent fare law, the income tax, inheritance tax, factory safety laws, workmen's compensation, fair pay and reasonable hours for women and children. He has been the leader of the progressives in securing these things.

And note this—Morris and Hartwell enjoyed one of the most prosperous personal injury practices in Western Wisconsin, but that fact notwithstanding, Tom Morris led and won the fight for workmen's compensation, which in doing a great justice to working people PRACTICALLY WIPE OUT A LUCRATIVE PORTION OF HIS PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS. What better service, what nobler sacrifice can be found in the history of Wisconsin politics.

La Crosse people should not forget that to Tom Morris the most important legislative service ever rendered this city must be fully credited. During the boasted stalwart ascendancy a state normal school was to be built. La Crosse and Superior were bidders for the school, and La Crosse had every advantage of location and field. But the stalwart senator permitted Superior, then in a wilderness and without logical backing for its contentions, to get the school.

When Tom Morris entered upon his first term as senator, another normal school was to be built. The taxpayers of La Crosse would have to pay just so much toward its erection and maintenance, no matter where it went. Tom Morris took off his coat and went to work to get that school for La Crosse. He got it. Not only that, he planned and studied to make it the model normal in a state of which the normals are the model for the world. It is here today. Look at it, gentlemen. Think of it, the splendid building, the able faculty, the hundreds of students it draws here, the public course it gives—think of these things before, as La Crosse citizens, you sneeringly refer to Tom Morris' services at $250 a year.

What did your stalwart assemblymen and senators do for La Crosse at $250 a year?

AN UNFORTUNATE TANGENT

It is to be deeply regretted that factional politics has been mentioned in connection with the movement for a police matron in La Crosse. At the request of ladies of the Twentieth Century club, The Tribune yesterday omitted all reference to the incident in its account of the club meeting, but now that the story has found newspaper currency a frank discussion of it seems advisable.

The Tribune will not be charged with being an ally of the mayor in his fight with the police department, and that we credit his Honor with honesty of purpose in a good cause in the matter of securing a matron should have weight with our readers, who know we have not hesitated to commend or censure the mayor impartially, according as we agreed or disagreed with his activities.

Nor do we believe Chief John Webber would for a moment let his quarrel with Mayor Sorensen interfere with his often expressed desire that a police matron be named to assist him in the most delicate portion of his duties.

If friends of Chief Webber, in the council, have been led to join the opposition as a matter of factionalism in the police fight, we urge them to withdraw from their position.

The charge that the Twentieth Century club is "being used" by the mayor in his fight with the chief, needs no further refutation than this: that he did not seek their cooperation, but gladly accepted it after they, having interested themselves in the subject, had invited him to address them upon the question. The Twentieth Century club has, with admirable forbearance at times, held itself aloof from politics. Its women are disinterestedly devoted to the creation of better civic conditions in La Crosse, and desire to work in harmony with the regular agencies of local government.

Misery may love company, but the company seldom reciprocates.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Regular Army Man.

Who is the guy that is on the job. Ready to start in rainin' hob With any belligerent foreign lob?

The regular army man. Who to the perilous fray doth fare. With a way that is reckless and debonair. Personification of devil-may-care? The regular army man.

Who goes to a war as he goes to play. And handles his rifle in manner gay. And hits a ten-cent piece a mile away.

The regular army man. Who's fought for his country around the world, Wherever the old flag has been unfurled, And truly daredevil defiance hurled? The regular army man.

Never Worked, Either.

A farmer in the country last autumn gave a job to a seedy looking individual who had applied to him, and who had assured him that he never got tired. When the employer went to the field where he had put the tramp to work he found the latter lolling on his back under a tree.

"What does this mean?" asked the employer. "I thought you were a man who never got tired?"

"I don't," calmly responded the tramp. "This doesn't tire me."

Too Difficult.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

The Teacher—Are there any questions to be asked on the topics of the day?

Tommy—Please, teacher, wot's the difference between mediation and arbitration?

The Teacher (promptly)—We will now take up our arithmetic lesson.

Careful of Horse.

Pat one day bought a sack of flour and was proceeding on his homeward journey with the flour on his back when he resolved to take the car. When he got up on the car he still retained the flour on his back, standing up all the while. A stout old lady, being the only other occupant of the car, asked:

"Why don't you put your flour down on the floor, Pat?"

"Well," says Pat. "The poor old horse has enough to pull wild the likes of me and you, so I'll hold the flour meself."

He Didn't Mind.

The little boy was carrying home an empty bowl that had contained his father's dinner when a big bully appeared.

"Do you mind if I kick that bowl?" he asked.

"Not a bit," replied the small boy.

Quick Relief When Utterly Worn Out

Getting the Blood in Order Is Required By Most People.

If you think you have gone to smash and fit only for the discard, try S. S. S. for the blood. It will surprise you to know what can be done for health once the blood is released of the excess of body wastes that keep it from exercising its full measure of bodily repair.

If you feel played out, go to any drug store and ask for a bottle of S. S. S. Here is a remedy that gets at work in a twinkling; it just naturally rushes right into your blood, scatters germs right and left, up and down and sideways.

You feel better at once, not from a stimulant, not from the action of drugs, but from the rational effect of a natural medicine.

The ingredients in S. S. S. serve the active purpose of so stimulating the cellular tissues of the body that they pick out from the blood their own essential nutrients and thus repair work begins at once. The relief is general all over the system.

Do not neglect to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. It will make you feel better in just a few minutes. It is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 530 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Send for their free book telling of the many strange conditions that afflict the human family by reason of impoverished blood.

"You mean that you do not mind if I kick that bowl?"

"Not a bit."

"For the last time," persisted the bully, "do you mind if I kick that bowl?"

"No, I should like you to," said the small boy.

"Oh, would you!" exclaimed the bully.

"Then watch me!" He shattered the bowl to atoms. "Now do you mind?" he asked.

"Not a bit," said the small boy, edging away. "My mother borrowed the bowl from your mother this morning. You will hear about it when you get home."—National Food Magazine.

Good Indication.

"Oh, yes, Martha sings in the choir and she has about the best voice of any one in it," boasted Martha's aunt, who may not have known much about music, but who certainly knew all about choirs.

"Isn't that boasting just a little?" inquired her husband.

"No, it ain't," retorted Martha's aunt. "I know she's the best singer in the lot because no one else in the choir will speak to her!"—Lippincott's.

So They Might Hear.

Judge Hannington, when leader of the opposition in the New Brunswick legislature, representing the county of Westmoreland, was once delivering a vigorous address in the House against some measure of the government, then led by Mr. Blair.

"Oh, that my constituents in Westmoreland could hear me now!" exclaimed the opposition leader in violent tones.

Mr. Blair motioned to an attendant.

"Open the windows," he said.

That's the Reason.

Mr. Brown had just registered and was about to turn away when the clerk asked:

"Beg pardon, but what is your name?"

"Name!" echoed the indignant guest. "Don't you see my signature there on the register?"

"I do," returned the clerk calmly. "That is what aroused my curiosity."

GIRL TRIED FOR ASSAULT

MILWAUKEE, May 15.—Rose Guhlo, an Italian girl who several weeks ago shot Sam Amato, whom she brands as a member of the Black Hand, was given a preliminary hearing yesterday on a charge of assault. Amato, who was only slightly injured, refused to testify against the girl.

The Great New Historical Romance

John O' Jamestown

By VAUGHN KESTER

Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Eh, Dicky, but it's going to be a sorry day for the mistress when she has to part with the little one!" she cried.

"But how can the gentleman take Mary—you say he has only a man servant with him?"

"How do you know who's left in the village?" Meg demanded, and at this I own a sudden faintness overcame me. "One might have known it would turn out! Eh, do you think your father will have backbone to stick for a second ten pounds?"

So intense was the state of excitement into which Meg and I had fallen that Meg deemed it honorable under the circumstances to stand with her ear to a crack in the parlour door. After a moment of diligent listening she announced to me in a whisper that Mary was to remain with us for at least another year, and that the stranger was paying in to my father's hands at that very moment the sum of ten pounds.

As nearly as I can remember, some twenty months now slipped around, in all of which time my father heard naught of Mary's friends; and then came Captain Maxwell himself, not greatly changed, that I could discern. He arrived about mid-morning one dull day in early spring to spend but a few hours at the vicarage, and then continued on his way over the fells, going toward Carlisle.

He professed himself as delighted with Mary's growth and appearance of health, and when he left it was understood she was to remain with us some little time longer; but whether this means months or years, my mother durst not ask, for very dread that some limit would be placed on her possession of the child.

She might have saved herself this fear, however, for thrice again we were destined to see Master Robert Selwyn; these visits extending over a space of five years, by which time Mary and my sister were well grown toward girlhood.

Meanwhile it had been decided that I should be sent away to school, my education having become something of a burden to my father, who was not fitted to cope with an unruly lad who desired other things than learning. Indeed, my apathy had been so great that with all my love for my father I had been coaxed but the shortest distance into the mysteries of Latin and Greek, and even read and wrote my own native English indifferently well for a boy of my age.

Now, my father's brother, the Reverend Philip Farraday, was living at Alford, in the County of Lincoln, whither he had gone to be master of a recently founded free school. Not only my education, but a yet weightier question, was to be referred to him. He was to discern my inclination in life, which my father wished might be toward the church.

It is not my purpose to describe my schooldays. My Uncle Philip was undoubtedly an excellent master, having a most orthodox dependence on the birch, by aid of which he would fain have coerced me into the paths of learning; but I must do him the justice to say he invariably prefaced his floggings by the declaration that they hurt me not one whit more than they did him, and so even when I was sorest I was bound to admit that it was mighty generous of him to take the interest in me which he did, though out of pure charity I could have wished him less ready to make sacrifice of his feelings. I was nearing the end of my fourth year at Alford when there chanced what I still count the most notable occurrence of my life in Lincolnshire. It was on a Sunday afternoon in early summer, and I had gone forth for a walk in the woods over beyond the village of Willoughby, which is a matter of three miles or so from Alford.

I had come into a wooded pasture through which flowed a small brook, and hard by this brook was the strangest hut I had ever seen. It was newly erected, as I judged by its appearance, out of the boughs of tree, which were neatly wattled to form its four sides, while other boughs roofed it in.

My first notion was that some shepherd or forester had built this shelter for his temporary use, and seeing no one about I went closer to examine it. On the turf before the opening that served as a door was a heap of ashes where a fire had recently been kindled; near at hand was a store of faggots, together with

Send for The Cook's Book

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill

It's FREE

Our instructions to the famous editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine were: "Get up a book of recipes of the things people like best. Find the best way to make and bake each one. Then write it out so plainly that even an inexperienced housewife can't have a failure."

"The Cook's Book" was the result. Some of the 90 recipes were originated, many of them were improved upon, and all were personally tested by this best known authority on cooking in America, and she tells so clearly how she made everything that one cannot go astray.

While some of the cakes and pastry are elaborate enough for any occasion, the recipes are all thoroughly practical and call for no expensive and unusual ingredients. In addition to telling how to make them, the book is beautifully illustrated in colors showing how to arrange and serve the dishes appetizingly.

More than half a million of "The Cook's Book" are now in use in American households. Yet the demand is constantly increasing. Many send for two or three at a time to give to friends or young housekeepers. Don't depend on borrowing one from a neighbor—have one of your own.

How to Get "The Cook's Book"

In every 25c can of K. C. Baking Powder is packed a colored certificate. Send us one of these certificates (paste it on a postal card if you like) with your name and address plainly written, and "The Cook's Book" will be mailed free of charge. Only one book for each certificate.

"From Alford," I said.

"Do you live there?" he questioned, favouring me with a closer scrutiny.

THE HUTCHINSON FAMILY.

Famous Old-Time Singers.

Where is there an American home that has not felt the heart touch of the song "Dream Faces," written by John William Hutchinson, one of a family of twenty children, born at Milford, Mass. The Hutchinson boys, tall and sturdy, were the popular concert singers of their time, but sang much in the cause of temperance and abolition, and during the war sang for the soldiers. They made a successful tour in England and later founded the town of Hutchinson, Minnesota, in which they narrowly escaped massacre and were rescued by General Sibley. The author of "Dream Faces" lived to a ripe old age and the memory of the famous Hutchinson family will always be heartily associated with "Sweet Dreamland Faces."

The popular song alluded to is included in "Heart Songs"—which indeed, has left nothing out that has pleased the people for the past hundred years. This volume is being almost given away by this paper to its readers—and thousands are grateful for the opportunity. The coupon in today's issue explains terms.

STREETS PAVED WITH GOLD

VICTOR, Col., May 15.—Business streets of Victor are now literally paved with gold. They have been surfaced with more than seven hundred loads of ore, crushed to a suitable size, which runs as high as $10 a ton in gold. The ore was used because it was really cheaper than it would have been to haul non-mineral rock from a greater distance.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP?

There are certain disorders, such as the grip, that especially debilitate and make the body an easy prey for more dangerous diseases. Ask those who have had the grip regarding the present condition of their health and most of them will answer: "Since I had the grip I have never been well." They still have profuse perspiration, the persistent weakness of the limbs, the disordered digestion, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart caused by the thin-blooded condition in which the grip almost always leaves its victim after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are furthermore, at the mercy of relapses and of complications, often very serious. In an attack of the grip there is a rapid thinning of the blood and not until the blood is built up again is complete health restored.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly make the blood rich and red, drive out the lingering germs from the system and transform despondent grip victims into cheerful, healthy men and women.

Try the pills for any form of debility caused by thin blood.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Get a box today and begin at once to regain your health. Write for free booklet, "Building Up the Blood," to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

PHOTO-PLAY INDUSTRY CREATES WIDE MARKET FOR IDEAS THAT CAN BE FILMED

As the motion picture industry expands, there is a growing demand for stories that can be properly filmed. The greatest of the American and European dramatic successes are being used, but the field is so large that these will shortly be exhausted. Ideas that are adaptable to filming are becoming more and more in demand and the field of scenario writing has not even been scratched on the surface.

Out of this demand for the unusual in pictures have come such pictures as Madam X, The Traffic in Souls, The Scarlet Letter and others of a similar nature to which children are not admitted. The various boards of censorship are sometimes hard set in order to know whether pictures of this nature are permissible, but in order to satisfy the demand of the public they compromise by allowing them to be seen by adults only.

Just where the situation will end is hard to imagine, but the fact remains that the demand for original and practical ideas is growing and will continue to grow. There is no doubt but the situation will be the means of bringing out geniuses in scenario writing, the same as the demand for dramatic geniuses was answered in the past generation.

Use Good English

Use Good English. Bad English Does Not Pay.

(This is Lesson VIII in a series of short, simple lessons in English, by C. R. Round, Inspector of English, Wisconsin State Normal Schools.)

LAIN SAT RISEN

Lain, sat, and risen are what we call the past participles of lie, sit, and rise. They are correctly used follows: The book had lain there all night. The machinery had lain out in the snow all winter. The boys had sat in the cold hall until they were chilled. I have sat there many a time. We had risen early. If you had risen earlier, you might have seen the eclipse.

The worst error in this connection, and the most common one, is the substitution of laid for lain. Remember: Laid must be used only when something is laid. We may say CORRECTLY: He laid it there, or He laid it there. But we must NOT say: It laid there, or It had laid there. Those expressions ought to be taken right out of our speech habits. Say the following sentences over several times aloud, until they fit your tongue, and until they no longer sound queer or unnatural. They are CORRECT: It had lain there a long time. We had sat there until we were sick of the whole business. They had risen at six, and had gone fishing. Have you lain there all this time. I lay there an hour. (Past tense) He lay there longer than I. (Past tense) Don't lie there in the draft. I won't lie around here any longer. Don't sit around all day. Sit still. Sit down. He sat down. I have been sitting down all morning. Our manager lets us sit down.

Indian Boys Captured

The three Indian boys who had run away from the Flandreau, S. D., Indian school were captured here and held by the authorities until an employee of the Flandreau school came and took them back. The boys had been gone for just one week and had been successful in eluding officers up to the time they arrived here. Very little trouble has been had out at the Tomah school for some time, because of boys running away, but if they should their capture is almost certain.

Seniors Win

The Seniors won for the second time the baseball championship of the Tomah high by a score of 10 to 9. The Sophomores were the losers and were close contenders for the championship. Raymond Sickles, the Seniors' pitcher, appeared on the mound for the last time, although the high school faculty have to play the champs. Mr. Sickles leaves for Green Bay where he was called and expects later to enter into professional ball. The game Thursday was loosely played, both teams erring frequently and each made several bad overthrows which were in part responsible for the large score. The feature of the game was two home runs by Winters and Nuzum, both Seniors, in the fourth inning. Winters' hit was the longest in the interclass series, going away over the fielders' heads. The batteries were as follows: Seniors, Raymond Sickles and George Johnson; Sophomores, Ed Moran and Ernet Zellmer. This is the second game the Seniors won from the Sophs this year, and were the only team to defeat them.

"SUFFS" DISTURB COURT

LONDON, May 15.—Wild scenes were enacted in the Westminster police court today when Mrs. Dacre-Fox and Mrs. General Flora Drummond were arraigned today for having besieged the homes of Lord Lansdowne and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leaders, yesterday. When brought into court, the suffragettes started violent harangues. Both were ordered under $500 bonds to keep the peace for a year and when they refused were sentenced to jail for one month.

POLICE SEEKING MILLIONAIRE

WARSAW, May 15.—Police throughout Russia are searching for a Caucasian millionaire, M. Shahnaroff, who fled from this city after attempting to murder a beautiful young girl named Sofia Sec, whom he had engaged as his private secretary. The two had rooms in a hotel here, and, hearing feeble cries, the servants entered and found the girl imprisoned in a wardrobe. She was suffering from the effects of poison and later in the hospital told a pitiful story.

He was thrown violently to the ground, two fingers of his left hand were broken and he sustained cuts and bruises on his arms and face.

INSURANCE IN ITALY

ROME, May 15.—Italy's governmental monopoly of life insurance, created at the instance of the socialists in parliament, has just completed its first year of business. Although Italian government employees can only be required to work seven hours a day, the new department of life insurance has done such an immense business that the entire personnel has now been working 10 hours a day, Sundays included, for seven months, and with no immediate prospects of being able to go back to the seven hour day. Over $220,000,000 worth of business has been done during the year.

ROADS MEAN SCHOOLS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 15.—Bad roads are the cause of 75 per cent of the children in rural districts not attending school regularly. This was the declaration today of State Highway Commissioner Marker. He is preparing to use this fact in his campaign to increase interest in road building activities of the state. "Better roads mean better health, better schools, better children," is his motto.

TELEPHONE TALK

All merchants agree, that as business increases, it is necessary to provide additional help to wait on customers promptly. They also know that to hold their trade it is necessary to give prompt service.

But how many merchants are allowing their customers to wait every day before they can give their order because the merchants line to "Central" is busy? The answer is, another line to Central.

A customer will put up with a busy line for a while, but eventually will call the merchant from whom he can get prompt service. Is your business drifting to your competitor?

A few merchants have a party line telephone when they need an individual line.

An occasional "BUSY SIGNAL" five years ago with 2,500 telephones in the system means more than twice as many now with more than 5,200 telephones in the system.

A call to the Contract Dept. No. 140 today will bring the agent to see you about it.

Jack Coombs.

After having been out of the game a year, Jack Coombs of the Athletics probably will be back in the game soon. But it is doubtful if he will return to the slab. Mack fears Jack's effectiveness has been impaired by his long illness. If this proves to be the case, Coombs will be given a berth in the outer garden.

MEDIATORS SEE WILSON

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The A. B. C. mediators formally paid their respects and their farewells to President Wilson at the White house today.

The English of It.

A lady, accompanied by her small son, was making various purchases at the army and navy stores in London. They boy grew tired.

"Who are you buying those for?" he asked.

"Why, for father," was the mother's reply.

"Father in heaven or father in India?" the boy persisted.

The lady mentioned the remark to a friend, who, thinking it amusing, repeated it to an Englishwoman at church a few days later. The Englishwoman listened sympathetically. "Poor woman!" she sighed. "She was married twice."—Everybody's Magazine.

Temperature of Soil.

Beyond a depth of three feet the temperature of the soil does not vary very much from day to day. At sixty feet it is impossible to measure any change due to changing seasons; at forty feet it is barely measurable. At twenty-five to thirty feet a change from season is quite perceptible, though the change takes over six months. At three feet the average annual means is 45 degrees F.; at twenty-five feet a degree more.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Pie Plates.

The housekeeper who bakes pies and then puts them in rows on the shelf or in the pantry for future use should not use a tin pie plate. No matter how clean the plate has been scoured before using the tin will be likely to rust and there will be rust spots on the pie itself. Instead, use earthenware pie plates.

The picture is from a painting by Winterhalter, done at the period when her charming blond beauty drew attention to her wherever she went.

WILD GILHOOLEY ENTERS FOR RACES

Daring Irish Speeder Will Take Part in 500 Mile Race at Indianapolis Memorial Day

INDIANAPOLIS, May 15.—Ray Gilhooley, the wild Irishman of the racing game, has been nominated to drive the eleventh hour entry of G. M. Hecksher, the New York Yachtsman, in the next Indianapolis five-hundred mile race. This is the pilot whom De Palma once acclaimed the only man he ever feared, stating he could never tell what he was going to do next.

On two different occasions, says Ralph, he saw the mad Celt tear through a wooden fence at full tilt, taking the chance of getting killed just for the joy of passing him at a risky curve. Nor do his smashups seem to have affected his speed lust, as his hankering for the steering wheel and throttle today is greater than ever.

Racing drivers, when they see Gilhooley coming, usually get out from under, for fear that in his eagerness to get ahead he will drive right over them. Step on it is all he knows, they say. Ordinarily he punishes his mount to the limit. If his Isotta stands up under him, predict the wisecracks, Gilhooley will be heard from.

In preparation for the coming conflict Gil has been putting his machine through a course of sprouts for almost a full year, carefully working it over piece by piece until he thinks it is perfect. Last year, together with its mate, that raced later at the Elgin and Vanderbilt, it arrived on the speedway too late to do any good. This time, however, says Gilhooley, everything will be right for a killing.

The announcement of the Harp as driver definitely eliminates the name of Marquis from the possible list of five-hundred-mile contestants, unless, perhaps, he should be able to find a berth with some other make of car. Marquis is not yet right as the result of his recent injury at Santa Monica, it is stated, and the selection of Gilhooley, therefore, does not come entirely unexpected.

FRENCH CONTESTANTS SAIL

PARIS, France, May 15.—Rene Thomas, Albert Guyot, Jean Chasagne, Ernst Friedrich, Josef Christaens, and Arthur Duray, contestants in the next Indianapolis five-hundred-mile race, have sailed from Havre with their mechanics, twelve in all. They are being chaperoned by W. F. Bradley, the foreign speedway representative.

Their arrival in New York is scheduled for May 15, which will get them to the track about twelve days before the race. Despite the short practice period remaining then, none of the foreigners are apprehensive concerning the contest, having sufficient confidence in themselves and their machines to believe they will be able to finish in front with minimum preparation. Guyot is the only man of the crowd ever to compete on the speedway before.

WILL ASK AMMONS FOR RESIGNATION

Colorado State Senator Announces He Will Introduce Resolution Aimed at Governor

DENVER, Col., May 15.—State legislators were on the tiptoe of expectancy when today's session began, anticipating that State Senator W. C. Robinson of Colorado Springs, would carry out his promise made on the floor of the upper house, to introduce a resolution asking Governor Ammons to resign. Robinson said his resolution would be respectfully couched in every way.

The military court martial at the state rifle range at Golden was resumed early today. Several new witnesses were called in the trial of Major P. J. Hamrock, on charges of murder, manslaughter, arson and larceny growing out of the recent battle of Ludlow when six strikers, eleven children and two women were killed.

Although the time limit for voluntary surrender of arms in the southern Colorado strike here expired at 5 p. m. yesterday, no attempt at forcible seizure had yet been made. Colonel James Lockett, commanding the United States troops rested with President Wilson and Secretary of War Garrison.

What the police believe was an attempt to kill Major Hamrock was reported to the authorities today. R. K. Anthony, who lives across the street from Hamrock and who resembles the militiaman, reported an attempt to assassinate him.

He said he was walking toward his home and when two blocks away a man stepped from behind a tree and fired at him. Anthony ran towards his home and the man followed. When near Anthony's house the pursuer fired two shots, neither taking effect.

NO RECEPTION FOR T. R.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Despite the fact that George W. Perkins has received suggestions from all parts of the country for a big "Welcome home" demonstration on the return of Colonel Roosevelt from South America next week, there will be no public reception for the colonel. This was said today to be due to the wishes of the family, who plan to take Colonel Roosevelt from the steamship in the harbor and go to Oyster Bay in a tug or yacht.

IDEAS.

After all has been said that can be said about the widening influence of ideas it remains true that they would hardly be such strong agents unless they were taken in a solvent of feeling. The great world struggle of developing thought is continually foreshadowed in the struggle of the affections, seeking a justification for love and hope.—George Eliot.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 14.—James Stephens may raise the roof if he wants to; there is one old negro mammy who doesn't mind. Stephens owns several houses in this city. A number of his tenants were far in arrears and refused to vacate. Having had lots of experience with both carpenters and courts, Stephens chose the former and had them remove the roofs of some of the houses in the hope of causing the tardy tenants to vacate. Two families moved but one old mammy declared: "Lor, child, Ah kin live here jes as well. The blue canopy ob Heben am sho good not fo' me. Anyhow that roof was bad and Ah had to go out in de chicken coop every time it rained."

RECEIVE WORD OF BROTHER'S DEATH

McGregor Residents Go to Rock Island to Attend Funeral of Harry Van Duser

MCGREGOR, Iowa, May 15.—Word of the death of Mr. Henry Van Duser at Rock Island, Ill., Tuesday evening, has been received here. Mrs. Benjamin and Dr. John Walter, sister and brother of Mrs. Van Duser, left Wednesday to be present at the funeral which will be held from the residence at Rock Island. Mr. Van Duser, since his marriage to Miss Anna Walter of this place, has been often in McGregor and his early death is regretted by the large circle of friends he had made here. He has been prominently known for a good many years in business circles in Moline, Rock Island and Danbury where he has been employed as city salesman for a large concern. His ability in his line was so highly recognized that he has frequently of late years been called upon to lecture on the subject. Shortly before his death he was selected by the Detroit Chamber of Commerce as one of the eight best salesmanship lecturers in the United States. Besides his wife, Mr. Van

IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR YOUR BACK HURTS, TAKE SALTS

We eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys, and they need a flushing occasionally.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Agent, Chas. A. Beyschlag, Druggist, 503 Main street.

Lunch counter, small tables and other accessories have been installed and light lunches will be served at any hour. As full as McGregor is of visitors and auto tourists during the summer it is believed the tea room will prove a great convenience to the public. The Standard Oil company has purchased the two lots above the electric light plant from Gilchrist & Co., and will erect tanks and a pump house on them. They will run wagons from this place out to Garna-villo and other points. M. E. Boyle will be in charge.

Ben F. Behling of 959 Louis Avenue, Milwaukee, was a sufferer from malady of the stomach and digestive tract for a long time. He gave up hope. At last he discovered Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. He took a dose just to try it. The results were remarkable. He wrote: "I was in such a bad condition that I had given up hope of ever getting well again. I sent to you for one dose of your remedy and took it the same day you sent it. It has worked wonderfully. I took five more bottles, one each week. I am now a new man again. I thank you a thousand times for the good you did me." Just such stories are told by thousands who have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. It is known everywhere. The first dose proves. This remedy clears the digestive tract of mucus accretions and poisonous matter. It brings quick relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy there are many imitators, so be careful. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Hoeschler Bros.' drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has accomplished in cases they know—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

MAYOR DENIES HE OPPOSES STATION

Sparta Executive Disclaims Connection with Anti-Union Depot Petition

SPARTA, Wis., May 15.—A disclaimer by Mayor McMillan that he is circulating the anti-union depot petition or that he has anything to do with it, is the latest development in the union depot matter. At least one man claims to have signed the petition when the mayor had it, and others have seen him in close proximity to it when it was brought to light.

Plans are on foot for the presentation to the commission of a monster petition in case the anti-union names to justify the filing of their remonstrance. It is said that both newspapers in the city will support the union depot petitioners.

Another proposal has emanated from the source of the anti-union, and is said to have been suggested immediately upon their discovery that the remonstrance petition was not meeting with enthusiastic support, and this is as follows: That both the union depot petitioners and the anti-union join in a move for two new depots, one for each road. The union depot folks have turned this down flatly, saying that if the union depot move fails, they will be glad to take this up next.

MEDAL FOR KING

ROME, May 15.—The Italian branch of the Carnegie foundation today decided on the award of a magnificent gold medal to King Victor Emanuel. Although King Victor speaks English perfectly, Ambassador Page, who will make the presentation as president of the Italian branch, will deliver the brief address in Italian as a further compliment to his majesty. The award has been decided upon in recognition of the manner in which King Victor has hurried to all of the greatest disasters in Italy, such as the Messina earthquake, and worked personally in rescuing and caring for the victims. The date for the presentation has not yet been fixed.

Origin of Geography.

The Phoenicians were the first people to communicate to other nations a knowledge of distant lands. It is now known that before the time of Homer that enterprising people had passed beyond the limit of the Mediterranean into the great western ocean, and it was by their sailors that the first rough charts of the world as then known were made. But geography as a science originated among the Greeks, its real father being Herodotus of Halicarnassus, about B. C. 484.

The Holy City.

Medina, the holy city, triumphed long ago over all the rivals in various parts of the world which bore the same name, which means simply "city." Notable among them were the old capital of Malta and Medina Sidonia in Spain. The Arabian city was originally known as Yathrib, but owes its later name, El-Medina (the city) or Medinat Rasul Allah (the city of the apostle of God), to the Koran. To a good Mohammedan there is only one city "with a big C"—Exchange.

Stopping the Exodus.

During service in an English church on a warm Sunday many of the congregation, finding the air oppressive, rose and silently stole away. The minister, perceiving that the exodus was about to become epidemic, paused in his discourse. "Brethren," he said, "I am here to deliver a sermon, not a soliloquy."

"If I had my way about it, the motorcycle brigade will be the first to go into action."—Rufe Hoskins.

SAYS SULPHUR DRIVES ECZEMA FROM THE SKIN

Use Like Cold Cream to Instantly Stop Itching and Clear the Skin

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common bold-sulphur made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated parts the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years common bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic, anti-septic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always effecting a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subdue the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

OPPOSES TENT ON MARKET SQUARE

B. F. Locke Says that Eating Place in the Open Will Be Unfair to Local Restaurants

SAYS IT WOULD BE UNSANITARY

Declares that if Board of Health Investigated the Conditions Plan Would Be Forbidden

(By B. F. LOCKE.)

I notice that it has been suggested that the committee in charge of the Made-in-La-Crosse and Homecoming week erect a large tent on Market Square in order to feed the people who will visit La Crosse on that week.

I think if this committee would canvass the situation they would find that the institutions permanently organized and doing business in this city are abundantly able to take care of the crowds that we will have here on that week. At least, in justice to them, it would be proper to give them a chance. They are paying taxes and if this committee are short of funds, these people will feel more like subscribing to this proposition if they have a chance to get the money back, and furthermore it is not right to convey the idea to our visitors that we are not able to take care of them without making some temporary arrangement of this kind, and I am satisfied if a committee was appointed to investigate this matter, they would find that the caterers of La Crosse are abundantly able to take care of the business.

Could Not Be Sanitary.

There is another way to look at this proposition. A large tent on Market Square, temporarily equipped to serve meals, would not be allowed by the board of health if they would take the trouble to investigate it, as it is utterly impossible to run a proposition of that kind in a sanitary manner. The organization of a temporary bunch of employees is always attended with more or less trouble and expense, and the person who goes into a proposition of that kind would meet with a great loss in case the weather was not just favorable, and for sanitary reasons alone, the proposition should be prohibited, as the hotels and restaurants of La Crosse are supposed to be inspected by the board of health and to be in a sanitary condition, able to provide food that will be properly cooked and served. As I said before, the restaurant and hotel keepers will feel more like contributing toward a fund to entertain these people than they would if they expected this institution on Market Square to be erected to take care of the crowds.

As far as I am concerned, my place is too small to permit of my doing any extra business and take care of the business that I already have. Therefore, I am not speaking for myself, but for my friends who are in the business and who will look forward to that week for a little extra money and will increase their capacity accordingly.

Says It's Injustice

I am speaking from experience, as I have handled crowds on occasions like this and I am satisfied that a hotel and restaurant people of La Crosse should at once enter protest against a proposition of this kind. As they have been put to considerable expense to comply with the sanitary laws of the city and equip themselves to properly handle crowds of visitors, it is doing them a great injustice to take this business away from them, and as I said before, I am satisfied that if this committee would investigate this matter, they would find that I am right. If, after an investigation, they find that it is necessary to make extra preparations, why not suggest to these hotel and restaurant men that each one of them increase their capacity to accommodate these crowds, as an approximate idea can be formed of the number of people it would be necessary to feed during this week. It would be just as proper to import doctors and dentists, opticians and other classes of business men on this occasion, which would be entirely unnecessary because I am satisfied that the gentlemen in these professions were able to take care of any extra business that might come in on that week.

The past winter has been rather a hard proposition for a number of restaurant and hotel keepers in this city and they should be given a chance to make a little extra money, if possible.

BAR ASSOCIATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO COL. WOODWARD

with him he used to wander through the woods and fields about Washington, discussing the events and men of the rapidly culminating struggle between the sections. He was an ant-slavery man then, although, as a citizen of the District of Columbia, not a voter.

His War Career.

In February, 1860, why we do not know, Mr. Woodward came to La Crosse and began the study of law in the office of Messmore and McKenney, and was admitted at Black River Falls, probably just at the beginning of the Civil war. Without opening a law office, he enlisted in the La Crosse Light Guards, then a militia company, afterwards Co. B of the Second Wisconsin Infantry, on May 22, 1861, and was mustered into the U. S. service, as a private, June 11, 1861, for three years. No regiment in the Union army has the distinguished record of this regiment. It was in the first battle of the Army of the Potomac, at Bull Run, in July, 1861, and its remnant, as a battalion, was a part of that army at Appomattox, in 1865. For over three years, with the Iron Brigade, it was in every great battle of the Eastern army, with McClellan in the Peninsula, at Manassas, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness, Spotsylvania and Cold Harbor. Through the great struggle, it fought with dauntless bravery, and on every battle field left its toll of dead. With most of the few remaining original members of this famous body of men, Mr. Woodward was mustered out at Madison, June 30th, 1864, those re-enlisting being reorganized as a battalion.

This regiment had the highest per cent of killed and wounded of any regiment in the Union army, both in single battle and during its term of service. The 29 per cent of loss of the famous Light Brigade in its charge at Balaklava, and the 49 per cent of the 3rd Westphalian, German, at Gravelotte, are excellent, in civilized warfare, almost alone by the 72 per cent of killed and wounded of the Second Wisconsin on the first day of Gettysburg.

Rise Was Rapid.

The rise of Mr. Woodward was rapid. He was a private in June, 1861; after an unanimous election by the company, was appointed by the captain, orderly sergeant, in September, 1861. Because of his distinguished service and marked ability in handling men at Gainesville and Second Bull Run, he was made second lieutenant, in August, 1862; first lieutenant, in September, 1862, and became adjutant of the regiment in June, 1863. In most regiments the position of adjutant is second only to that of colonel. In this position he was the general favorite of the whole regiment. He was aide-camp of General Meredith, commanding the Iron Brigade at Gettysburg, and, as such, saw the beginning, and was active in, this great and decisive battle of the Civil War. In this battle, after winning high praise from his superiors and new laurels, he was severely wounded in the right forearm. He was aide-camp on the staff of the commander of the Iron Brigade, and of General Woodworth, commanding the Division, until the middle of June, 1864, when most of the regiment returned to Wisconsin to be mustered out. When it is remembered that Mr. Woodward was only 26 when the war began, his rise from a private to an honorable position in the army, shows both his ability as a soldier, and his appreciation by his superiors, for Mr. Woodward was not one to push himself forward, or to intrigue for place. Mr. Woodward's army service gave him an intense interest in everything connected with the Civil War. His knowledge of the great struggle and the issues involved, was comprehensive and accurate. To the last he delighted to read its history, and to study its campaigns.

In 1864, Mr. Woodward began the practice of law at La Crosse, and soon held public position. Mr. Woodward was fortunate in that, unlike many lawyers, he held official positions, some time notable, without acquiring the itching for office, or losing his love of the law. He had escaped the oblivion that sometimes comes after death to the able lawyer who has held no official position, without ruining his career as a lawyer.

In April, 1865, he became city attorney, and from 1867 to 1871, he was elected, as a republican, district attorney of La Crosse County. In 1872, he joined the Liberal Republican wing of the Republican party, and attended the Liberal Republican convention, at Cincinnati, that year. In 1874, as a Democrat, he was elected mayor of La Crosse, and in 1876, city attorney, which position he ably filled for several years. In 1882, he was elected a member of congress from the Seventh Wisconsin district, but was defeated in 1884 the district being hopelessly Republican under ordinary circumstances. Only Mr. Woodward's recognized ability, fairness and kindly personality enabled him to be elected at all. In 1886, he was the candidate of his party for governor, and was delegate at large to the Democratic national convention, in 1888, acting as chairman of the delegation. This ended his public service except as a member and president of the Police and Fire Commission of La Crosse, for some seven years, and until within a year of his death; member of State Board of Law Examiners for ten years; president of Associated Charities for some years, and a member and vice president of Washburn library board since its creation.

He filled every position creditably and with notable ability. His service in Congress was so short that he did not become identified, as a leader, with any particular policy or measure, but he was recognized by the Speaker, Mr. Carlisle, who was his personal friend, and by his associates, as an able and industrious member.

In the senatorial contest in which Mr. Mitchell was elected, Mr. Woodward represented the old commander of the Iron Brigade, General Bragg, and when the Democratic caucus seemed hopelessly deadlocked, was unanimously offered the senatorship. His answer was characteristic—"I will not accept it. I am for General Bragg, even if he is defeated."

Mr. Woodward as a Lawyer.

While his name may be longer preserved as a soldier and public official, we, as lawyers, are most interested and will remember him best and longest as a lawyer.

On leaving the army, he practiced law alone, but in January, 1868, he formed a partnership with the late S. S. Burton, continuing until 1876, as Burton & Woodward. From that time until his partnership with Mr. J. W. Losey, he practiced alone. In January, 1889, he formed a partnership with Mr. J. W. Losey, then the leading lawyer in Western Wisconsin, which partnership continued until the death of Mr. Losey, in 1901. Mr. Andrew Lees having also become a member of the firm in 1900. On the death of Mr. Losey, the firm became Woodward & Lees, and so remained until Mr. Woodward's death, March 13, 1914. Before his connection with Mr. Losey and while practicing alone, although he was recognized as an able lawyer and a student of the law, he did not seem to seek or desire an extensive practice.

No one can conceive of Gilbert Woodward soliciting business, or even joining social organizations, he did not care for, for the purpose of obtaining it. While practicing alone, his habits were studious. He thoroughly prepared his cases for trial, kept abreast of the law by a constant reading of reports and reporters, and by copious annotations of statutes, and the Wisconsin reports, and had a select clientele, including one or two of the leading lumbermen. When the wider field opened on his becoming Mr. Losey's partner, it found him thoroughly prepared. As Mr. Losey once remarked, when Mr. Woodward became his partner, "I consider him the most valuable man as a partner in La Crosse, on account of his studious habits, good judgment, and great knowledge of the law." Mr. Losey was the chief trial lawyer of the firm as long as he lived, and while Mr. Woodward generally sat in, and assisted on, the trial of important cases. His chief work was the preparation of the law of the case before trial, the presentation of it to the court during trial, and, above all, the preparation of the case for appeal, the making of the appeal brief, and the presentation of the case to the supreme court, or other appellate tribunal. This work he excelled in. The supreme court reports of the state are Mr. Woodward's best monument.

Big Trial Business.

During the entire time Mr. Woodward was a member of the firm of Losey & Woodward, and after the death of Mr. Losey, Mr. Woodward's firm had an extensive trial business. Many of their cases went to the state supreme court, or the U. S. court of appeals. For many years almost no term of the supreme court passed without the presence of Mr. Woodward, and frequently he made briefs and appeared in several cases, often from different circuits.

Many of these cases were cases of first instance and have become leading cases. Among these may be mentioned Black River Improvement Co. vs. La Crosse Booming & Transportation Co., 54 Wis., 659, passing on the right of a corporation chartered for the purpose of improving a river, to close navigable side channels and chutes to the detriment of riparian owners without compensation; La Crosse City Railway Co. vs. Higbee, holding that an electric street railway and its trolley poles is not an additional burden on the fee over the burden imposed by a street railway using horses, and further distinguishing between the right, without compensation, to erect a telephone or telegraph pole, and the right to set up a trolley pole in the street adjacent to the owner's land. Cawley vs. La Crosse City Railway Co., 101 Wis., 145, deciding to what extent the uncorroborated testimony of one interested, in opposition to admitted physical facts, requires submission to a jury; City of La Crosse vs. La Crosse Gas & Electric Co., 145 Wis., 408, interpreting the public utilities law, and deciding to what extent a franchise granted by the city is a contract, and the effect on the franchise of coming under an indeterminate permit; C. B. & Q. Ry. Co. vs. Ry. Commission, 152 Wis., 654, upholding an order of the Ry. Commission requiring the stopping of certain interstate trains at Cochrane as a reasonable regulation. This case is now pending in the supreme court of the United States. It was one of the last, if not the very last argued by Mr. Woodward in our supreme court, and his brief, made when he was over 77 years of age, shows all the industry, clearness and mental acumen of a man at his best.

Mr. Woodward's briefs were clear, methodical and exhaustive, leaving little of the law applicable to the case unexamined. He discerned clearly the main question and presented it to the court fully, fairly and convincingly. He never misstated or glossed over the opposing lawyer's facts or law. He was eminently fair both in his briefs and in his oral arguments. He had, and was entitled to, the respect of the court, and was generally listened to with more than usual attention. He was a dangerous lawyer to meet in the Supreme court because of his clearness of perception, great knowledge of general principles and case law, and indefatigable industry. His briefs were models of clear, classical English without being pedantic.

Honest of Intellect.

As a lawyer, Mr. Woodward was eminently honest and upright, and actuated by the highest of ideals. He was not simply honest in his conduct, but he was intellectually honest. He did not deceive himself as to his case nor attempt to deceive the court. He analyzed his own case with intelligent painstaking labor, and dissected his opponent's case with keen discrimination.

Mr. Woodward had the faculty of concentration in a marked degree. He never tired of work. He carefully read the law periodicals until his last illness, and annotated his statutes and Wisconsin reports copiously.

He had a remarkably accurate and retentive memory, and could recall the leading case on almost every difficult question. He seemed to desire to know the law, not merely as a means of winning cases and obtaining a livelihood, but for its own sake and because he loved its study. Notwithstanding his great industry, high legal accomplishments, and intellectual ability, the lawyers who have most often met him, and who know him best, will first recall and longest remember him for what might be called his moral qualities as a lawyer. He had the highest regard for the ethics of his profession and the clearest perception of the right or wrong of a thing. It was no effort for him to do right; he did it instinctively. He was kind and generous toward his professional opponents, and would go out of his way to oblige, if he could do it without injury to the interests of his client. In short, Mr. Woodward's essential nobility of character manifested itself in the practice of his profession, as it did in other walks of life. In his death our profession has met a distinctive loss.

As a Scholar and Man

Mr. Woodward was not simply and only a lawyer; he was a scholar in some lines of more than ordinary attainments. His early education, in school and academy, must have been limited, because he was at work as a printer at 15, and possibly left school shortly after. Although he left school at this early age, he had acquired some proficiency in the Latin, French and German languages, and had acquired a consuming desire to know more of them and of other languages, through a critical and extended study. The text books and grammars in his library at his death, many of them containing memoranda as to when he read or studied them, show that in early life he began a systematic and critical study of languages which he continued up to his last year. He had acquired not simply a superficial knowledge of one or two, or of a few of the languages of Europe, but he had a critical knowledge of almost every European language, not simply of the languages of today, but of the root languages, Latin, Greek, Old Saxon and Sanscrit.

He studied a language not simply to be able, in some manner, to pronounce and understand it, but to know its grammar and the origin of its words and phrases. He knew it not simply in its present form, but in its primitive form. When he had acquired proficiency in a language, he delighted to read its literature and appreciate its classics.

He was familiar with and evidently read with ease, Latin, Greek, French, German, Italian, Spanish and Danish, and to some extent Norwegian and Swedish, and possibly other languages of Europe.

Considerable Library

He possessed a considerable library of the vast works in these languages, and his books show he read them and did not buy them simply from curiosity, or for mere reference. He owned and evidently had read understandingly Latin, Greek, English, French and German classics printed in the earlier part of the seventeenth century, soon after the invention of printing. The type as well as the text was often archaic, and is difficult to read by a modern scholar, even when he is familiar with the language, but memoranda on the margin show Mr. Woodward read them. When we consider Mr. Woodward's devotion to the law, his knowledge of foreign languages so much beyond the usual requirements of even students of language, seems the more extraordinary.

Nor did he confine his critical study alone to languages. His knowledge of history, ancient and modern, was exact and extensive. His remarkable memory fixed all he read, he had it readily at hand as those who know him have talked with him on matters of history. He especially knew the political history of his own country, and in general of the English speaking people.

He had an intense love of nature. Almost every pleasant Sunday, for years, he drove or walked somewhere into the country. He knew, apparently, every vista of the hills and bluffs of La Crosse and Houston counties. The woods and streams were to him a constant source of pleasure. He for years rented a few acres of ground in Coon Valley, where he could build a fire and picnic as he pleased. He knew the flowers and when and where they were to be found. Unlike many men who love the woods and streams he cared nothing for hunting and fishing.

Not a Recluse

While Mr. Woodward was a student and a lover of nature, and therefore much by himself, mingling little in society, he was by no means a recluse. He took an active interest in the every day life of the community. In 1868 he was instrumental in organizing the Young Men's Library association, and in founding the first public library in La Crosse. To him, more than to anyone else, was due the success with which this library was conducted until it was purchased by the Washburn library board, and became the nucleus of the present library. It was, undoubtedly, the intention of General Washburn to create additional building funds for the library he had given $50,000 in his will to found, but for some reason he neglected to do it, and on his death the trustees found themselves unable to use more than one-fourth of the fund for building purposes. In this emergency, through Mr. Woodward's influence, a way was discovered to use more than one-fourth of the fund for building purposes without violating the provisions of the will. The Young Men's Library association sold their library to the Washburn trustees for $7,000, which the Young Men's Library association immediately donated to the Washburn building fund, thereby enabling the erection of the first Washburn library building. He was an alternate member of the board of trustees by the will of General Washburn, and on the book committee almost from the first, and at the death of Judge Burton, became a trustee, serving as vice president of the board for many years until his death. As a member of the book committee his extensive and critical knowledge of books was invaluable to the library.

As a member, and for some years, the president of the police and fire commission of La Crosse, he ungrudgingly gave his services to the community.

Charter Member of Post

He was a charter member of Wilson Colwell post of the Grand Army of the Republic, and remained an active member until his death. He was also a member of the Loyal Legion, and of the Iron Brigade association, and was a large contributor to the fund for the erection of the soldiers' monument in our cemetery. His purse was always open to his soldier comrades. Although then in feeble health, he visited Gettysburg last year, on the 50th anniversary of the battle, to meet for the last time many of the soldiers he stood with there. His recollection of the great struggle was vivid. His position as a staff officer gave him more than an ordinary opportunity for observation, and those of us to whom he narrated incidents coming within his own personal notice, believe that a serious loss occurred when he refused the offer of the Wisconsin Historical society to publish his personal recollections of the civil war, and especially of the first day at Gettysburg. His remarkable command of the English language might have enabled him to write a description of the first day as vivid as Lieutenant Haskell's classical battle of Gettysburg, covering the last two days, published by the society, a narrative now regarded by scholars as a model of dramatic descriptive page, written by a friend of Mr. Woodward, another staff officer of the Iron brigade.

A more extended notice of his various activities in the community would too much prolong this paper. It can be truthfully said that for many years, hardly anything was done for the advancement of the civic or industrial life of the community that he did not take an active interest in.

Mr. Woodward wrote a pure, classical English. His extensive study of foreign literature in the original, and his familiarity with the best English literature, gave him models. His law briefs were notable examples of law writing.

Wrote for Press.

In his earlier days, before his partnership with Mr. Losey, he is understood to have written to some extent for the press, but his work, being generally unsigned, is lost. He collected a considerable library, especially rich in earlier editions of classical Latin and French authors. Possibly because he was a printer, he seemed especially to have sought early examples of the art of printing, and his collection contains such examples from the presses of famous masters of the art, from soon after the invention of printing through the 16th and 17th centuries, mostly in Latin.

Mr. Woodward was modest and reticent to a degree concerning himself, hence little is known of his literary work. This characteristic modesty and reticence led him to conceal his many contributions to civic enterprises and private charities. He is known to have given away thousands of dollars to the sick and needy, and to have contributed generously for public purposes. He cared nothing for wealth. With a practice that would have enabled him to leave behind a fortune, he left only a modest competence. We know, however, the true wealth of the world, its vast literature, the product of the best minds of the ages, its hills, valleys, and streams, teeming with life, vocal to him who can hear its voices. Of him it could be said that "holding converse with Nature in her visible forms she spake to him in a various language."

Deprived, by death, in 1868, at once of both wife and child after a happy married life of one year, he did not become a misanthrope or recluse. Notwithstanding his domestic misfortune, which seems ever afterward to have prevented him from forming family ties, he eventually determined to make the most of life.

To the writer, except for his lack of domestic ties, Gilbert Woodward seems to have lived the most sensible, perfect and complete life of any lawyer he has ever known.

Law for Own Sake.

He was genial and kind in his association with his fellow men. He was absolutely honest with others and himself. He generously and ungrudgingly gave to his country and the community his best service. With the highest ideals and love of justice, he studiously and with rare concentration pursued the critical study of the law for its own sake, until he became both a wise and a learned lawyer. He knew the value of wealth and its worthlessness as mere wealth, and did not make its pursuit the dominating force in his life. He loved history and literature, and in his leisure moments was able to commune, and communed, with the greatest minds of the world in the languages they used. He loved and understood Nature. To him the world with its wealth of history, literature and beauty was an open book. He lived respected by the community for his real worth, and by his brother lawyers for his high character as a lawyer and great legal ability; and died loved by those who met him intimately in the relations of life.

tions, with the consequence that the letters are piling up in hundreds.

Toeller "Crazy" to Come

Extracts from some of the letters are interesting. John C. Toeller, who with William Dolling is proprietor of the Dolling-Toeller Company of Battle Creek, Michigan, regrets that the time selected is so busy for merchants that he may be able to spend no more than one day at the homecoming, although he would "like to be there for the curtain raiser and stay until the last dog is hung."

John admires the invitation circular, but can't quite understand the paragraph about "sunfish in the Mississippi." The thing that John has missed "since leaving the best town in the United States" is "the extreme pleasure I derived from the Mississippi and the extraordinary loyalty, true friendship and real sportsmanship displayed between man and man on the river."

"Don't you worry about my not remembering the old days," writes Mr. Toeller. "If you think I might, ask Kelup or Braxt or the editor of the exhaust pipe, or Seppie F or Tim Toolin or Hi Jid or the Swede or Slim or Sliver or Segard or Dave or Wage or Lou or Lee or anyone of the rats who stick around the river from ice out to ice over."

John J. Esch says he will be here if "the exigencies of the Mexican situation permit."

"Friendship"

Bertie A. Powell, Los Angeles, California, who hopes to come, is reminded by the invitation of Emerson's thought in "Friendship." "It is necessary to write to a friend—and, forthwith, troops of gentle thoughts invest themselves on every hand with chosen words."

Donald MacDonald, the well known actor, writes from the College Club, Seattle, that he will be present, and Fred C. Aiken, Los Angeles, "sincerely hopes to be here." J. O. Englemann, for a number of years head of the department of education of the state normal school, now superintendent of schools at Decatur, Illinois, expects to be here with his family.

Harry A. Hamilton, LeGrange, Illinois, son of the late C. C. Hamilton, will return to see the "old scouts"

Heath Has Hopes

An interesting letter is that of George M. Heath, general superintendent of the Ogilvie Flour Mills company, Limited, Montreal. Mr. Heath expects to be present with Mrs. Heath, but believes his daughters have already made other arrangements for the summer. Mr. Heath fears he shall have to learn French as a business acquisition.

I was made in La Crosse, From the flour in my bread, and the eggs and the meat, To the honey I ate at my meals. I repeat: I was made in La Crosse.

I was made in La Crosse; In her schools both my mind and my body were led To expand and to grow as they are. I have said, I was made in La Crosse.

I was made in La Crosse, For the living I earned in the sweat of my brow And what fortune I've made were earned here. You see how I was made in La Crosse.

I was made in La Crosse, For my clothes and my food and my knowledge and health Are all products of her. These and this are my wealth: I was made in La Crosse.

From Maine to California and from Canada to troubled Mexico they are coming by scores mounting to hundreds.

That is the purpose of hundreds of letters being daily received by W. F. Goodrich, chairman of the invitation committee of the board of trade for Homecoming and Made in La Crosse Week July Fourth.

The letters are most interesting. They come from people who have been away from La Crosse but a short time and from others whose absence ranges back as much as thirty years, but they are alike in one thing: the tender sentiment which they express for La Crosse and La Crosse people.

The outlook for attendance as indicated by the letters is good. Fully fifteen per cent give unconditional assurances of their presence, while a large majority hope to be here, and not more than five per cent say positively that they will not be able to be present.

An encouraging feature of the correspondence is the interest shown by the fact that a majority of the letters, in response to a request contained in the invitation circular, send the names of other former La Crosse citizens who may be invited. As fast as these names are presented Secretary Goodrich forwards the invita-

A SONG TO LA CROSSE

(By Roy Wood)
I sing a song to thee, La Crosse,
A song of golden hopes,
A song of happy days, La Crosse,
Where Care with Doubt elopes.

Bright as thy past has been, La Crosse,
Thy future brighter glows;
And all thy paths are strewn, La Crosse,
With hyacinth and rose.

The vision blinds my eyes, La Crosse,
So dazzling are its rays,
And little can I tell, La Crosse,
Of wondrous coming days.

Thy massive sweep extends, LaCrosse,
From Onalaska, south
Along the valley floor, La Crosse,
To Mormon Coulee's mouth.

And o'er the eastern bluffs, LaCrosse,
Palatial homes are seen,
While here and there a park, La Crosse,
Gives touch of living green.

The Mississippi guards, La Crosse,
As now, thy western side;
But on its flowing crest, La Crosse,
Great fleets of commerce ride.

And all along its banks, La Crosse,
Great concrete levees go,
To beautify thy front, La Crosse,
And guard from overflow.

And where today is marsh, LaCrosse,
West of the causeway, there,
I see freight barges tied, La Crosse,
Within a harbor fair.

To eastward massive blocks, La Crosse,
House many kinds of trade,
Where goods are shipped abroad, La Crosse,
That in thy mills were made.

These mills are scattered far, La Crosse,
Wherever there is room:
From on French Island's shores, La Crosse,
To below fair Isle La Plume.

A massive bridge extends, La Crosse,
To Minnesota's shore,
Which thousands use each day, La Crosse,
And street cars travel o'er.

And car lines weave a net, La Crosse,
Over the country round,
To many nearby points, La Crosse,
And suburbs that abound.

And so I say again, La Crosse,
The vision dazzles me,
And I can only tell, La Crosse,
A little that will be.

Therefore, gird up thyself, LaCrosse,
And drink of courage, deep,
For though we pass away, LaCrosse, Thine onward march thou't keep.

SHUN IDLENESS.

"My advice to all boys is, 'Work!' They can't all be geniuses, but they can all work, and without work even the most brilliant genius will be of very little good," said Sir John Millais.

The best preventive against idleness is to start with the deep seated conviction of the earnestness of life. Whatever men say of the world, it is certainly no stage for trifling. In a scene where all are at work idleness can lead only to wreck and ruin.

LADIES INITIATE B. A. Y. CANDIDATE

Fifty New Members Join Fraternal Organization; Assist in Dedication of New Hall

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen celebrated ladies night Tuesday evening, when the ladies' degree team put on the full work and initiated fifty of the 100 new members who have joined within the last month.

An interesting program was given as follows: Piano solo, Mayme Roche; song, "It takes a little rain with the sunshine to make the world go 'round." Isadore Rubert, pianist; Nellie Rubert; monologue, "I'm Sophrona Taber at the Opera," Mayme Morgan; violin solo, Serenade Badine, Mayme and Grace Reddin. The Yeoman orchestra of five pieces furnished music for dancing which was continued until one o'clock. Orangeade was served free throughout the evening. Over two hundred and fifty members and friends were present. The ladies taking part were as follows: Foreman, Anna Lee, master of ceremonies, Clara Larsen; master of accounts, Ida Anderson; Correspondent, Mayme Roche, overseer, Mary Vondrashek; Lady Rebecca, Mabel Larsen; chaplain, Alma Anderson; Lady Rowena, Sadie Roche; lady courier, Emma Carlis; Wamba, Della Kohn; Gurth, Tessie Richards; watchman, Irene Richards; sentinel, Theresa Fischer; black knight, Florence Williams; escort, Lulu Wach-smuth. Pianist, Jessie Monty. Leaders, Mayme and Grace Reddin.

The quartette consisted of Verna and Vera Sundvay, Lulu Wach-smuth and Jessie Monty. Much credit is given to Miss Sadie Roche for the pleasing manner in which she sang the solo entitled, "The Holy City," during the initiatory work.

The regular weekly dance of the B. A. Yeomen will be held Tuesday evening and the next class of new members will be taken in June 9th. The ladies team will go to Viroqua in the near future to initiate a large class of new candidates into a new Homestead and assist in the dedication of the new hall.

The card party was given by the Rowena Circle B. A. Yeomen Monday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mesdames Rossberg, Hackbart, Stangl, Schneeberger, De Wolf and Miss Ryan.

The Circle will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday afternoon. Cinch will be played.

NEW MARRIAGE RULE

ST. PETERSBURG, May 15.—The new director of posts and telegraphs has suddenly become the most popular official in Russia among the women folks. When he took office he was bombarded with protests against the long standing regulation which forbade women clerks either to marry outside of the service or to select their husbands from a different grade of the service than that in which they themselves were employed. He has now not only abrogated this rule but has cancelled a similar official "recommendation" that male clerks should observe the same restrictions.

Of this total 17,692 persons were incapacitated for one week or less, 16,651 for more than one week, 1,296 were permanently injured and 823 suffered death.

Don't Apologize.

One of the big corporations conducts a school for salesmen downtown. An iron faced old demon is the pedagogue. He teaches the young idea how to shoot in orders by making it as unpleasant as possible for the pupil. A gentle, shrinking, two legged violet teeters in blushing.

"I—I beg your pardon," says the raw material of a good drummer, running a finger around his collar. "I—I—pardon me."

"No," bellows the iron faced man. "No! Ten thousand gospels, no! When you apologize to a man for wasting time you are wasting his time—and he knows it!"—Herbert Corey in New York Globe.

Bimini and the Fountain of Youth.

Bimini was a fabulous island firmly believed in by the Indians of the Antilles, though they could give no further clue to its location than that it lay some hundreds of leagues north of Hispaniola. On this island was the famous fountain of youth, giving perpetual health and vigor. It was the search for this fountain that led Ponce de Leon and Hernando de Soto to Florida, on the outskirts of which the island was generally supposed to be situated.—Exchange.

Miss Clara Klammer, aged 20, 2053 Mormon Coulee road, was struck by an automobile at Twelfth and Mormon Coulee road about 8 o'clock last night. The identity of the automobile driver or owner has not been positively established.

She, with Miss Gertrude Miller, was waiting for a street car.

The machine stopped, loaded the girl into the tonneau and carried her to the Lutheran hospital.

The hospital authorities did not secure the name of the owner or driver, according to information from there this morning.

Miss Klammer suffered a slight concussion of the brain and severe bruises. She will recover, it is said.

BURY GALLAGHER IN CANADA CITY

The funeral services of Edward Gallagher, who was killed by an express train at Portage La Prairie, Canada, Wednesday morning, were held there Thursday morning by Father A. E. Baribeau. The remains were so badly mangled that it was not thought advisable to bring them home. Later other arrangements may be made and they will be placed in the Gallagher lot at the Catholic cemetery.

The Brevity of Ballarat.

It was in Ballarat that Mark Twain found the local language so puzzling at first, the good people of the place deeming life too short to dawdle in their talk.

The mayor called on the American humorist and laconically said "K'm." Then when Mark Twain gave him a cigar he simply said "Q."

Subsequent inquiry revealed that these terms were Ballaratese for "welcome" and "thank you."—London Chronicle.

His Usual Way.

The new waitress sidled up to a dapper young man at the breakfast table, who, after glancing at the bill, opened his mouth, and a noise issued forth that sounded like the ripping off of all the cogs on one of the wheels in the power house. The new waitress made her escape to the kitchen. "Fellow out there insulted me," she said. The head waiter looked at him. "I'll get it," he said. "That's just the train caller, and he is ordering his breakfast."—Argonaut.

BOND "JUMPER" FOUND NEAR COURT

After forfeiting a bond of $100 and incurring a $25 fine by failure to appear in county court at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Louis Ancestase was arrested, sitting in the court house park an hour later.

Hadreas furnished the bond which was forfeited and the second bond furnished by his brother, John Hadreas, and George Chresand.

Ancestase pleaded that he had mistaken the time.

MARRIAGES SLOW BIRTH RATE BRISK

Although marriages are on the decrease, births are increasing in number if the statistics for La Crosse county during the month of April can be taken as a fair basis. The vital statistics filed with Andrew Thompson, register of deeds, today shows 93 births for the month of April, 1914, as compared with 82 during the same month last year. Marriages on the other hand show a falling off of nearly 33 per cent.

PAUPER CLAIMS ROYALTY

LONDON, May 15.—A pauper of 60, Augustus West by name, who became an inmate of Wandsworth infirmary the other day, claims to be a direct descendant of George II. He declares that his grandmother was "Princess Livinia" of Cumberland, who died in 1871 after unsuccessfully appealing to Queen Victoria for recognition of her claim to be of royal blood.

He Hits Back.

There had been a domestic spat at breakfast. "You monster!" snapped the matron, who was always scolding. "You are not like my two former husbands. They were tender men."

"I never doubted that they were tender, Maria," ventured the meek man, "when you kept them in hot water all the time." And he just cleared the front porch two yards ahead of the rolling pin that followed him.—Chicago News.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD
BY HAL SHERIDAN

Seven runs was the aggregate collection of the eight American league teams yesterday, three of the games going 1 to 0.

Now the Federals gathered scores with greater diligence. The entire circuit averaged more than nine tallies per game.

For thirteen nerve, racking innings, Pitcher Plank was a puzzle to the Nap men, and forty-three times they vainly tried to stop the procession of ciphers which decorated their scoreboard.

The sole tally was scored by Schang of the Athletics, who given a walk, came home on Hagerman's overthrow of Plank's punt.

Although Jim Scott, White Sox twirler, held the Senators hitless for nine innings, Gandil singled in the next, and scored the winning run on Shaks' double.

Leonard of the Boston Red Sox blanked the St. Louis Braves, 1 to 0, allowing but four hits. Gardner clouted a three-bagger, and scored on an infield out, in the second frame.

Peck was the only Yank who could hit Dubuc, the enigmatic Tiger twirler, and the American leaders took the second straight game from the Chance men, by making three in the eighth when Keating weakened.

The Pirates succumbed to the Giants in their first combat of the season, 4 to 3. The National leaders outdid McGraw's men, 2 to 1, but errors favored New York in the first, three runs being made with only one infield hit.

Tom Seaton pitched the Tiptops to their first home victory, winning from the St. Lou Feds 4 to 1.

The home teams in the other Federal games won.

Jim Vaughn, Cub pitcher, allowing but one hit, blanked the Dodgers, while his teammates swatted the ball hard, earning five runs.

PLAYERS ARE NOT PERSONAL PROPERTY SAY CLUB OWNERS

CHICAGO, May 15.—Charles W. Murphy, former boss of the Cubs, was quoted in newspapers with the sold the West Side club, sold the West Side club, that he "ran a shoestring into a million." The assessment schedule of his personal property is only $6,650. The assessor's office has asked him to reconcile the two statements.

Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, has filed a personal property schedule of $7,500.

Federal Magnates Considering Shift of Kansas City Club to Cincinnati to Fight Majors

CINCINNATI, O., May 15.—In side of one month's time the Kansas City Federal league club will be playing out its schedule with new quarters at what is now known as Spink's ball park at Bellevue, Ky.

This new deal comes as a thunderbolt to the local forces of organized ball and will bring the war of the leagues to the threshold of Cincinnati, for the new club will be known as the Cincinnati Federal league team and will play in avowed opposition to the Reds. It was stated on the authority of one of the Federal league agents here Thursday that the conference with the several Reds in St. Louis was but a move in the establishment of the new park over the river, the promoters of the of the Cineds believing that, with several athletes who have already become local favorites, they can draw big crowds from the very start.

The Schellhas club which has held an enviable record for years among amateur organizations in this part of the country, is said to be stronger than ever this year and has come out of a few preliminary brushes with Northern league teams with credit. Chapman, a former twirler in the Northern league, is slated to do the mound work for the visiting aggregation.

The Clothiers have not appeared on the home grounds this season and many are anxious to see the north sides at work.

Walters or Squires will pitch for the home club and Childers will work at the backstop position.

The management today made the announcement that all ladies will be admitted to the game free of charge.

LIPTON IS HOPEFUL OF YACHT VICTORY

NEW YORK, May 15.—Sir Thomas Lipton, in a letter received recently, expresses supreme confidence that the new challenger he is building will lift the America's cup.

The letter says:
"I think this time I shall have the best boat that I ever crossed the Atlantic with, and I think my chances this year are on the winning side."

Sir Thomas is going to ask the New York Yacht club to permit towing the challenger across in calm and against head winds. He writes:
"Towing cannot help the boat. The strain could not possibly do it any good and might do it harm. The reason I am anxious to have her towed in dead calm weather is because it would give me so much more time in America to get my boat in condition for the race."

"I might be becalmed two or three weeks at different times. There is no saying what might happen. I shall make this request of the club at a later period. I should think after the boat is launched."

BRITISHERS GLUM OVER POLO TEAM

Dashing Work of Captain Vivian Lockett Will Lost to the Team

By HAL SHERIDAN.
(Written for the United Press.)
NEW YORK, May 14.—Britishers claim to be without cheer or hope over their chances of turning tables on America in the International Polo cup series next month at Meadowbrook. Reason for the chunks of gloom which can be cut with a knife wherever English poloists meet to discuss the outlook is that Captain Vivian Lockett will not be at No. 3 position when the fracas opens.

Was Chief Reliance.
It was the dashing, slashing defense and attack of Lockett who met every American, catapulting attack with the same sort of goods, that stopped the Big Four temporarily on several occasions last year, and made them begin all over again. It was Lockett's work more than the work of any two men on the English team which kept the American score down and the English tally up.

Three Veterans for U. S.
The American four looks very good. There will be, undoubtedly the three veterans Larry and Monte Waterbury, and Devereux Milburn, galloping about the green and swatting far out of the ball when the whistle blows. For the fourth position there are Malcolm Stevenson, Phipps, Rene Montague and one or two others, who are less prominently known. Stevenson has "sat in" before, and is far from being a slouch at the gladsome game. Phipps and Montague have been playing like Sahara typhoons at practice games this spring and either could show up the stuff if called on pull a George Washington and repel the Redcoats.

Hughie Comes Back.
It's true that few ever pull the come-back stuff with an degree of noise, but Ee-yah Hughie Jennings at the start of this year's race did that thing. With the same pep and ginger that he showed when he copped the American league flag he has been going like an oil saturated house fire. As a contemporary aptly put it Hughie's singeing flash may be awful hard on the grass sprouts around first base but it's mighty fine for the national pastime.

Prophecies that were made for young Ray Caldwell when the Yanks were being mauled, torn, mutilated and effaced by every team in the American league last year, are this year being fulfilled.

With Peerless Leader Chance now coming into his own as a reorganizer and driver of ball players, Caldwell is being given the sort of support that puts ambition and love of gore in the heart of a young pitcher with the stuff.

Of course, Caldwell had the stuff all the time, but he hadn't much incentive to squeeze it out last year. With the Highlanders fighting like cornered mountain lions to the last announcement by the umpire, Caldwell should this year pile up behind himself a whole of a record. He has certainly started right. In his first two games—against Athletics and Red Sox—all that those teams could get of him were three safe slams each and no sign of a run.

Answers Calamity Howlers.
Turning back to that Detroit rush, there is offered in the situation a mighty good answer to those pessimists and calamity shriekers who have been insisting that because of the big play of the Federals this year those major league teams which ran up against Federal opposition would

In the American league, Detroit for a long time showed all the class. There was no Fed opposition in Detroit. In Pittsburgh, despite the fact that the Fed team was being banged around like a red headed step child by every other team in the Fed league, the Pirates, led by Fred Clarke were galloping away with lots of daylight between them and their nearest competitors the last time they slanted the club standings.

If the pessimists were right and the magnates really wanted to do a little "fixing" they certainly could have made a far better job of it than they have so far.

The Pacific coast bids fair to keep its place at the head of the column as the producer of high jumpers. After giving us Horine whose jumping record of 6 feet 7 inches looked to be good for many years, the coast came right back a few weeks ago and showed Eddie Beeson in the Pacific Coast Conference meet. Beeson beat Horine's jump by 5-8 of an inch, which is considerable distance when it's piled on top of 6 feet 7 inches, and especially if the man who tries to get over it doesn't use a baloon or an aeroplane.

HIGHS WILL PLAY LANESBORO TEAM

Saturday afternoon the local high school baseball team will play against the Lanesboro team at Lanesboro. This game is looked upon as one of the hardest of the season as the Lanesboro team was champion of southern Minnesota last year. Practically the same team will represent Lanesboro this year. The coaches are feeling good over the form the players have been showing in practice during the past week and are confident that La Crosse will put up a good game next Saturday.

The Senior baseball team defeated the Wendell Phillips team yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. Only seven hits were made during the game and six of these were made by the Seniors. The score was tied until the seventh inning, 3 to 3. When the Seniors came to bat, Bangsberg made a two base hit. A long single by Nelson brought in the winning run. This is the first game the Seniors have won. A great many errors were made on both sides, the Seniors making eight and the "W. P." team seven. Batteries: Seniors, Bangsberg and Stoiber; Wendell Phillips, Crider, Swennes and Feinberg.

A joy ride often ends with a blow-out.

A Case of "Must." In a book store I noticed a man fumbling over various magazines, impatiently glancing now and then at a scrap of paper he held in one hand as he read the various titles. A clerk offered his services, and the man asked "Got a fashion magazine called The Grand Fashions of Paris?" "No," said the clerk. "I never heard of such a magazine."

"Neither have I," the man replied, then added sardonically, "I suppose I've got to find whatever it is she wants though." - Boston Record.

LEADS IN AUTOMOBILES.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—On a basis of population California leads any section of the United States in the ownership of automobiles. The latest figures, compiled under the new automobile law, show that in this state one person in every 27 is the owner of a motor car. In New York state only one person in every 89 is the owner of an automobile. The figures which establish the lead of California in auto ownership are for motor cars that are actually in commission, with no duplications and are taken from the registration, which to date shows 94,718 cars in the state. The New York total, figured from the end of 1913 and adding the normal percentage of increase each month would show the Empire state to have about 129,000 machines in actual commission. In a table brought to date by adding the percentage of growth, it is shown that next to California the greatest per capita ratio is Nebraska, where one in 37 persons own automobiles.

Stuffed His Reproaches.

There is a touch of savage humor in the old time story of a Spanish pilot captured by Van Noort. Becoming ill, the Spanish believed that the Dutch wanted to poison him, "and therefore," it is recorded in the explorers' journal, "we threw him into the sea, leaving him to sink, to the end that he should not ever again reproach us with any treachery."

PRESIDENT SENDS FLOWERS TO HERO

Memorial Wreath for Samuel Meisenberg Sent to Chicago by Wilson

SON

CHICAGO, May 15.—Ancient Jewish rites yesterday were intermingled with modern military ceremony at the funeral of Samuel Meisenberg, the Chicago marine who fell at Vera Cruz.

State, county and city officials, soldiers and sailors, fraternal organizations and thousands of Meisenberg's folk and other citizens gathered to him honor in the locality where he lived. The narrow streets were choked with humanity. Flags at all public buildings were at halfmast.

Shortly before the services began a large wreath of leaves and ferns, tied with mourning garlands and black ribbon, was delivered at the Meisenberg home. It bore a card with the simple inscription:

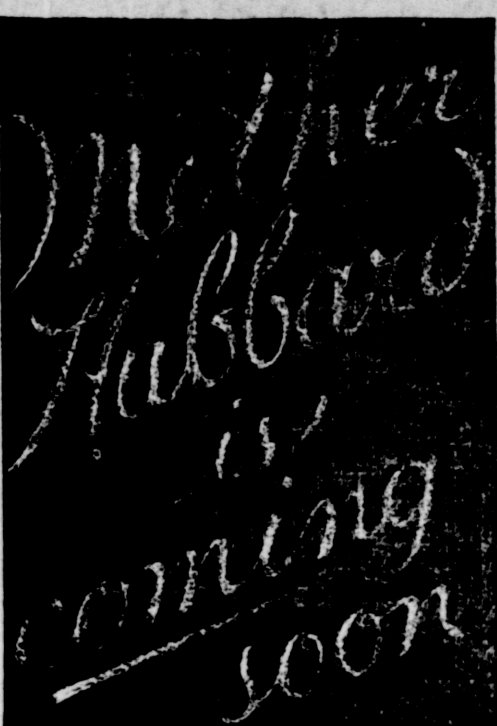

"The President."

To this was added a floral tribute from Governor Dunne. The body was taken to the Anse Kneseth Israel synagogue at 9 o'clock, where the services began an hour later. Addresses were made by Governor Dunne, Mayor Harrison, Senators James Hamilton Lewis and Lawrence Y. Sherman, and Judge Hugo Pam.

High Art.

"Are you blind, prisoner?" inquired the magistrate.
"Yes, your worship."
"You are charged with vagrancy. How did you lose your sight?"
"By a fit of appleplex, sir."
"But there is a picture on your breast representing an explosion in a mine, through which, it is stated, you became blind. How is this?"
"Please, your worship, I couldn't afford to pay a hartist as could paint appleplex."—London Answers.

IMPROVE EPISCOPAL CHURCH AT DAKOTA

St. John's Being Painted and Repaired and New Steps Have Been Added

DAKOTA, Minn., May 15.—St. John's Episcopal church is being painted and repaired, adding much to the appearance of the little church. Will Beach Jr. is doing the work. The church has also been supplied with a new set of wide steps, an improvement long needed and adding much to the beauty of the church.

Bishop McElwain held confirmation services at the Episcopal church on Sunday last. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. A class of three were confirmed. The services were well attended.

Glen Harrington and Rollin and Sylvia Wilson spent the week at their homes.

During the coming season it would be well for citizens to refrain from throwing rubbish, ashes, etc., on the streets, as it very often contains nails and glass, doing considerable damage to auto tires and often injuring horses' feet. This is not the only thing to be considered, but keeping the streets clean adds greatly to the general appearance of the village.

Mr. C. W. Workman visited at Winona the latter part of last week. Mothers Day was observed at the M. E. church here on Sunday and a very interesting program was rendered.

Harris Benson tells a story of a negro who was in jail in Mississippi under sentence of death for murder. The prisoner had tried and exhausted all other means of obtaining a reprieve, or a commutation, and at the eleventh hour, so to speak, he thought he would make a personal appeal for executive clemency. So he took his pen in hand and wrote to the governor.

The most significant part of his letter was the first paragraph, which ran somewhat as follows:

"Dear Boss—The white folk is got me in this jail fixing to hang me on Friday morning, and here I Wednes day already."—Saturday Evening Post.

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The Easiest and Best Way Is to Dissolve It

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing else destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

DAVENPORT FAVORS A POLICE MATRON

Officials of Southern City Who Have Tried Out New Proposition Consider a Matron Indispensable

MAYOR RECEIVES AN ARTICLE

Davenport Paper Deals with Duties and Necessity for a Police Matron in that City

Some idea of the view held by other cities on the police matron question may be gleaned from an article appearing in one of the Davenport, Iowa, newspapers dealing with the necessity and duties of police matrons. Davenport was one of the first cities in the middle west to adopt the police matron plan and city officials now consider a matron as indispensable.

The article appearing in the Davenport paper, a copy of which has been received here by Mayor O. J. Sorenson, follows in full:

The field of police matron is a broad one and the amount of good that can be accomplished, and is being accomplished by these women cannot be reckoned.

To be sure, the work of the matron differs considerably according to the size of the city in which she is located, but in any city there is plenty of work for the right kind of matron to do. If she is interested in her work she will always find there is more work than she can possibly do, and, as a rule, her work is not understood by a large per cent of the city's population nor is it appreciated to any great extent, except by those human lives who through her efforts and influence have been directed to higher ideals and better living, and as evidence of this she has many letters of appreciation for her motherly and helpful interest.

Then, the matron is a great aid to the police in many ways, and for this reason the chiefs of the police in all the larger cities are taking hold of the matter and urging that suitable matrons be installed; but they have been very slow about it.

The field of labor of the matron is peculiar to itself, and, in cities about the size of Davenport is more varied than in larger cities, and with this it affords an opportunity for great good along the preventive line that would be impossible to her in the larger cities; for the duties at the station are not so heavy that they require every moment of her time, and it gives her this opportunity for outside work, of going to houses in distress and sorrow and helping to straighten out tangled affairs before they reach the police courts. The average resident of our city does not realize the amount of rescue work that has been done by Mrs. Hill in our city; and the work alone would fill a volume. It is the general impression that when there are not inmates at the house of detention that she has nothing to do, but if they would take a little interest in the matter and follow her for a few days they would soon come to the realization of the wide scope of her work and gain a little knowledge of the vast amount of good she accomplishes in a quiet way.

For much of her work cannot be explained and will never be told because of the very nature of it. She is called into houses and made a confident of in matters that are as sacred as life itself. The erring are made to feel the responsibilities of life and the young and thoughtless are pointed to the way where disgrace will not overtake them.

Mothers call upon her to aid them with their boys and girls that they have allowed to get beyond their control. The youthful are often kept from suffering the extreme penalties of the law, where to enforce it would be to ruin their futures, and the misguided, by her care and foresight, are saved from a life of shame.

This is only a part of her work. From early morning until late night, day in and day out, she is called upon by unfortunates. In many cases she takes time by the forelock and puts an end to careers that would come to disgrace and crime. This is the kind of work that cannot be undertaken by a matron in the large cities because the large number of inmates require her undivided attention. Yet, it is a work that should receive the attention of the public and be given encouragement. How much better that the erring be brought to a sense of their wrong doing before it is too late, or that the youthful miscreant should be treated as a human being and given an opportunity to reform before he gets into the toils of the law where he is made to feel the disgrace. She is also brought in contact with those who are just starting on the down grade and here she can, if she is so disposed, as is the case with Mrs. Hill, find no end of work to do.

Mrs. Hill has the confidence and respect of all classes of people, and co-operate with the rich and the poor that many times she is able to direct those most needing home influence to just the right place where they can be of service to the better class and her care and thought for them has followed them for years. Through her co-operation with the well-to-do she is most always able to supply needed clothing to many who come to her destitute, and many garments she has made over herself for children under her care, and often she enlists the help of her inmates in this work, and they often express delight that they can be of service to others while they are "serving their time," under her care. She has been supplied with a largely whether you are going to get along well in life or whether you are going to be a failure. Better, take stock of yourself and make up your mind which it is going to be.

Do You Want To Succeed?

One of the first things to do is to start a savings account and keep steadily adding to it each week. When you have collected some capital, you can start a business for yourself, or be ready to take advantage of profitable investments. Don't forget the old saying that it takes money to make money.

sewing machine and finds it a great help.

All this Mrs. Hill does in addition to the duties of her office as matron, and much more that cannot be told.

No other member of the police force is doing as much or can be any possibility do as much, for she deals with the children, particularly with girls and young women who are taking their first step in the wrong direction; she becomes their friend and advisor and, being an officer of the law, can bring them to see their mistakes in a kind and tactful way, and with kindness and encouragement they are directed into some channel of service for their betterment. The police is not a reformer, and by the nature of his business he cannot be such. If he has a tender side he cannot show it to those he is called upon to arrest; he has little opportunity to exercise discretion, and yet it often happens that much more can be done with kindness than with a club.

The police matrons do a grand work for the "other half;" they deal in ways of prevention and those are always better than cure. But to accomplish the best results she must be a woman of experience in handling and reading human nature; quick to detect the false and likewise to see the burden of a discouraged one.

CHINA BECOMING CIVILIZED.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Speaking here before a meeting of Methodist ministers, Dr. N. W. Brewster, a missionary of Hing-Wah, Fukien province, Southern China, asserted that China is rapidly advancing toward a prominent position among the highly civilized nations of the world. He said China is taking advantage of the world movements, has gained the understanding of the necessity of respecting modern commercial value of credit, and that men of modern thought and education are directing its development. The change in the press of the people, improvement in foods and in other conditions of living were emphasized by the speaker as evidence in support of his contention, and he said that by the adoption of these modern methods China was becoming an important factor in the world's markets.
